-Piet Hein

I'M GOING HOME

Dear Paul

Schools out in 2 1/2 days. Wonderful feeling hey? We'll probably be seeing more of each other this summer so I won't get too sloppy. I'd like to say that it was a good year, but I don't think I'll lie today. So instead I'll say, Better luck with the rest of your life.
yours whitely, Ted Morris

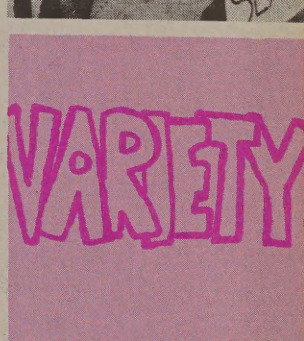

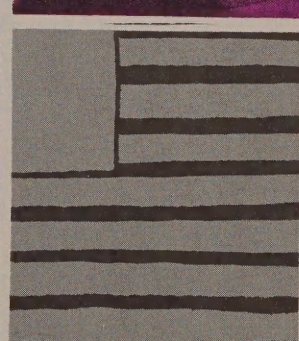

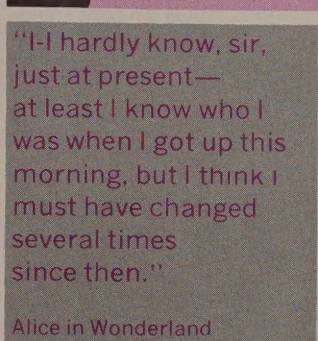

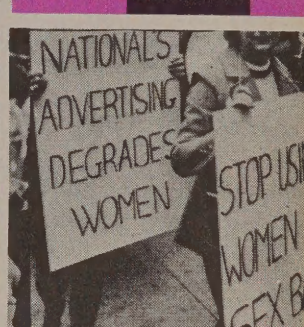

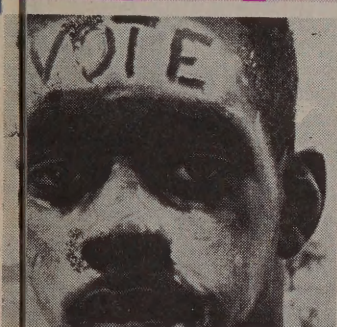

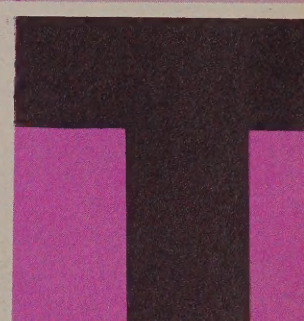

Paul,

It has been an exhilarating year sitting next to you in Mr. B's class. Your literary messages to me provided the entertainment necessary to survive the drudgery of his lectures. As far as your belching goes, it did not impress me. Have a good time next year. This will be the 15th time in many years we won't be at the same school. Too bad.
B. Mars

I wanted only to try to live in accord with the promptings which came from my true self. Why was that so very difficult?

-Hermann Hesse

"I-I hardly know, sir, just at present— at least I know who I was when I got up this morning, but I think I must have changed several times since then."

Alice in Wonderland

Paul,
Well, as we are about to take our final big test in trig I think it's fitting to be signing your year book instead of studying. We haven't studied all year, so why start now? Well, Good luck in everything. Hope to see you in the future.
Jeni Holliman

Dear Part-time Paul,
So glad you're going to UMD!
Maybe I'll see you up there sometime.
The Prologue was fun & never forget it — Believe me I've tried!
Pam

Paul, say
I must say that I like the nickname that you got this year. (It's got a good ring to it.) It's great to know someone in front of large groups being uneasy as if speaking in Burrows with it seemed finally, our math class was nothing to most. It was great! And although at times you seemed to be off somewhere other than the class - our discussions are memorable. Hope you find what you want + maybe I'll see you some time at Mr. Burrows' house! Good-luck.

Love,
Cathy

EAST HIGH SCHOOL
DULUTH, MINNESOTA

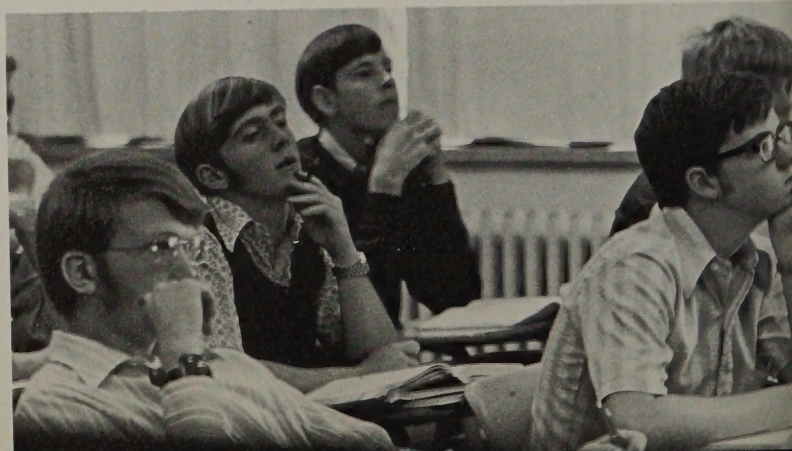

All around us lies a world comprised of a variety of people.

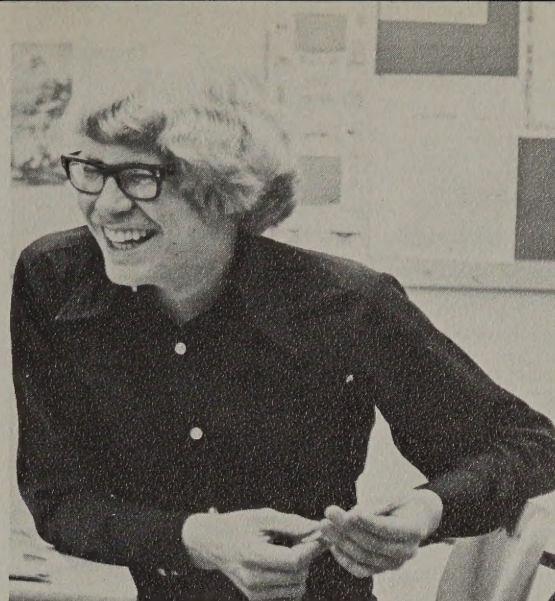

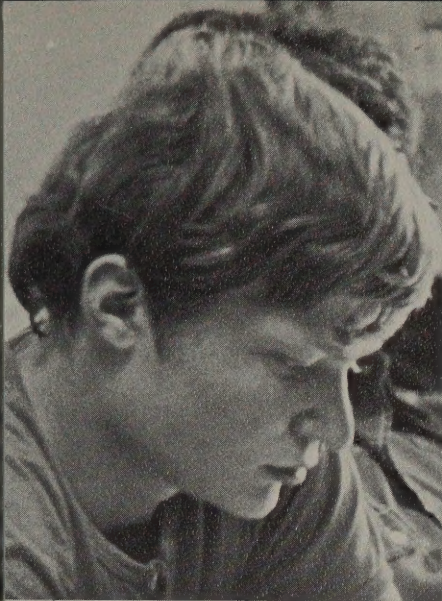

People are made up of a variety of moods, hopes, and ideas.

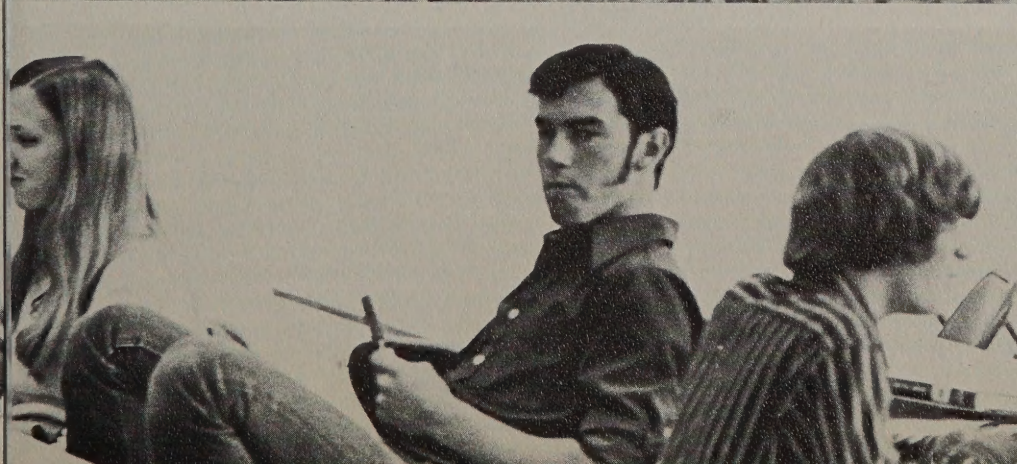

Paul
 It was a good year, even with Mr. Advanced Whoreath.
 You gave good bargains in Open Minds for me. If you come to Finland, come to see me. I'm sure that you would like our country.
 Have happy life and stay open minded.

Through a variety of changes and continuous self-discovery we find ourselves becoming distinct individuals.

This realization can be interesting and sometimes frightening.

But we are growing and should not be afraid to grow because growth is change and nothing is quite so sure as change.

A black and white photograph of a group of young people, likely students, posing on a wooden stage or platform. Some are standing in the back, while others are sitting or kneeling in the front. They are dressed in casual attire typical of the late 1960s or early 1970s.

We must open ourselves and listen and be receptive to alternate styles.

And so we learn.

It is only when we are exposed to various facets of life that we can choose what is right for ourselves.

STUDENT LIFE

SUMMERTIME '71 ACTIVITIES VARY FOR ALL STUDENTS

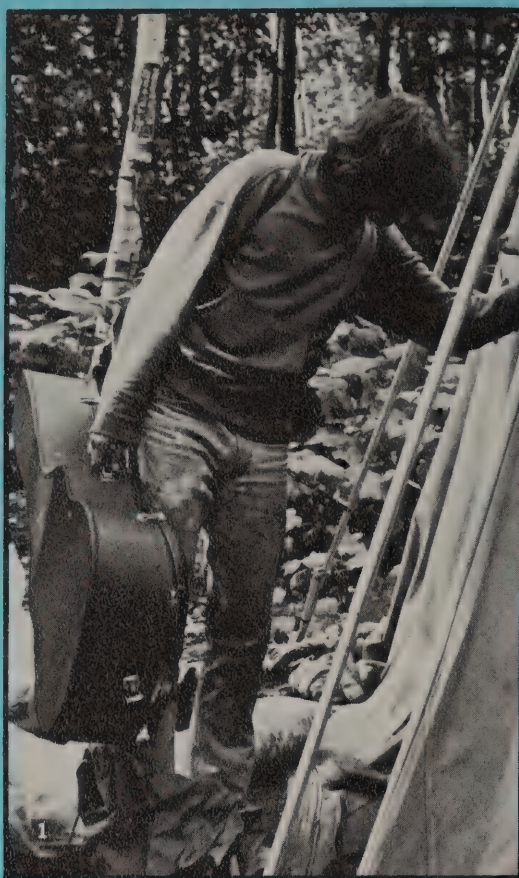

■ My brother and I hitchhiked to California on three dollars.—MIKE PAYMAR

■ This summer I worked as a playground director and went to the state student council workshop at St. Olaf.—ANN CROWELL

■ In Russia, Steve Anderson was picked up for taking movies of Tyler Carlson drinking water from a sidewalk vending machine and falling down, pretending to be choking. The cop had to make about forty calls to find out what to do with him.—JIM LOISELLE

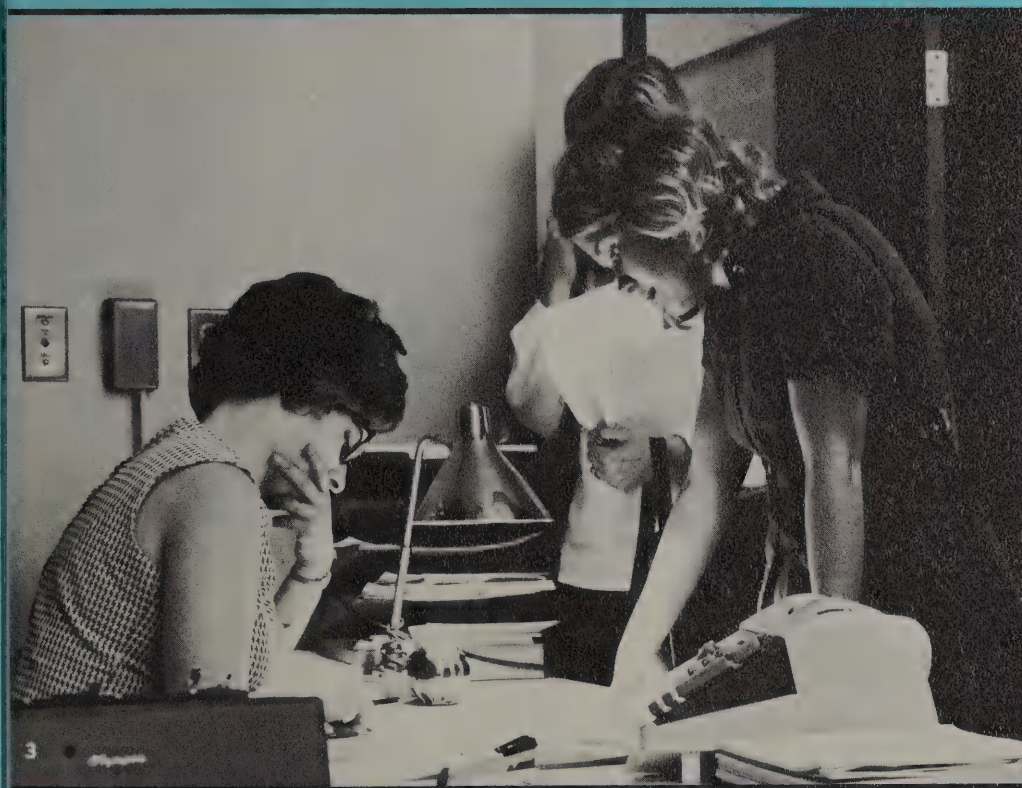

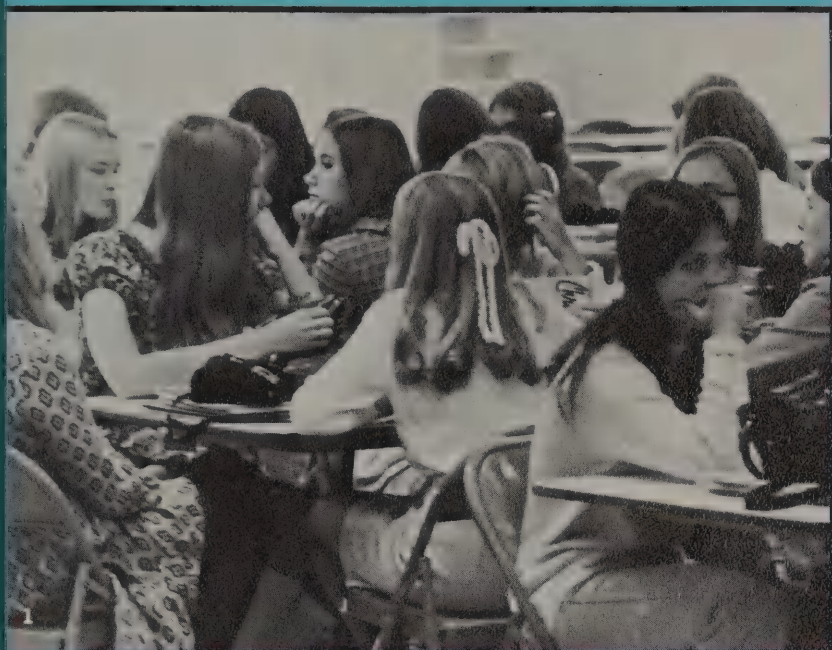

■ While on the Burrows' trip in England, I liked sitting on the top of Arthur's Seat, a mountain in Scotland, at 6:00 in the morning, watching the sun rise over Edinburgh.—CATHY SINK

■ The European choir trip was the most exciting thing that has ever happened to me. I was proud of our group because we weren't only representing East High and Duluth, but the whole United States.—WENDY SAMUELSON

(1) Jeff Sund ends his summer vacation with a camping trip at Baptism River. (2) Dave Hougum prepares his equipment for a dive into Lake Superior. (3) Jann Osterland's devotion to golf sends her out, even in the rain. (4) Dan Udesen enjoys an open air festival in St. Paul during the month of July.

CONFUSION MARS IMPRESSIONS OF FIRST DAY BACK

■ The first day was exciting—talking with friends you didn't see during summer, comparing schedules, and looking over the boys in classes...—SARA SPICER

■ I'm really startin' school off wrong this year. Already I've skipped all my classes on the first day. I can imagine what I'll be like by the end of the year...—DAN GAYLORD

■ The first day was one of the most confused days I've ever had.—DAVE DESTEN

■ That computer is really screwy. I come for homeroom, have two study halls, then go to lunch.—BOB BUCHANAN

■ I felt like a little kid again, and I didn't know what to do.—JIM NYGARD

■ I really hated the first day. I didn't know what was going on. I got lost. It was pretty bad.—PATTY BARNES

■ East always seems to be bustling with excitement, be it first day or last. The first day seemed to be a confusing day for everyone... For me, I love school and all first days.—KATHY ABALAN

(1) Senior girls brief their "little sisters" on what to expect at East. (2) "Sorry, Keith, even YOU have to take off your shoes!" (3) After waiting an hour outside the counselors' office, Kris Kinsela discovers that she is 87 on the list for a schedule change. (4) The first fire drill was a welcome relief from classes.

PART-TIME JOBS A "MEANS OF LIVING DURING SCHOOL"

■ Working is a means of living during school. It's money. Perkins isn't such a bad place because the kids are so good to work with. You know it's not a permanant job so you just have a good time while you're working.—MIKE WITZIG

■ This summer I worked at Champion, a home for retarded children. Many people have asked me if it was depressing, but it is completely different. The children are very special and beautiful in their own way. They need love and it makes you care for them. It probably was the best experience I've ever had.—BECKY BRIDGES

■ I work after school in a restaurant within one of Duluth's larger drug-stores. By the end of the night I am so haggard I swear I will quit my job for good. Maybe I would, but once each week my soul is consoled, my heart put to rest; I am floating on air as if I'm in paradise—my paycheck has arrived!—JAN HANDBERG

(1) Dave Hawes and Mike Witzig prepare some Canadian Cod, while working at Perkins' Cake and Steak House. (2) Kevin Lomen removes some Kentucky Fried Chicken from the oven, while Eric Nordling looks on. (3) Terry Eastvold seems to enjoy her job working in the kitchen at St. Lukes Hospital. (4) Judy Zalasky rearranges freshly baked doughnuts at Kurt-tla's Bakery.

"I DON'T GO TO LUNCH FOR THE FOOD..."

■ If kids like open lunch hours and can do something fun in 30 minutes—more power to them.—TEACHER

■ I'm glad lunch hours are open so I can go home and walk my dog.—ROBIN JAMAR

■ How about giving us some food once in a while? Every day I ask, "What is it?"—MARK JONASSEN

■ You need a microscope to see the hamburgers.—RICK PENAUT

■ What lunch hours? I eat any time I can get food!—LEE CHRISTOFFERSON

■ This is the last straw!—LEANNE ALEXANDER

■ Lunch hours are terrible! A student barely has time to recover from breakfast before he is forced to eat lunch.—JEAN BREKKE

■ I sit with the two neatest guys who make lunch fun. I don't go to lunch for the food, but for the company.—PAM NEWSOME

(1) Claudia Regali smiles at a friend while enjoying "cafeteria food." (2) A broken vending machine can be very frustrating at times. (3) Randy chooses to ignore parking lot rules and takes a few puffs during lunch hour. (4) Lunch is a social time for M.Edmunds, N.Lake, J.Reid, and R.Ketcham. (5) T.Hamilton, C.Solberg, B.Verchota, and N.Lake enjoy the fresh air during lunch.

STUDENTS RELATE TO "A VARIETY OF PEOPLE" AT EAST

■ I don't go around with a "certain" group of kids. There are small cliques in East, but I have more fun going places with a variety of people.—CATHY PETRULO

■ Everybody is entitled to their own opinions and ideas, but go tell them to the wall.—GLEN GEVING

■ The social life at East means absolutely nothing to me. I have many acquaintances, but very few close friends. I'm not the type of person that would go up to a group of strangers and say hi. I'm too much of an introvert and a loner.—SENIOR GIRL

■ In every skit, the juniors and seniors portray the sophomores as "Suzie Sophomore." The shy, dumb, and out-of-it student has become the stereo-typed sophomore.—SANDY LARSON

■ Sometimes in school if you're too much yourself, you're not an individual, you're a creep or a

weirdo.—SENIOR GIRL

■ I finally found out at a party what girls talk about when they're whispering and giggling together secretly. It's really stupid stuff! And I didn't even know until 10th grade.—SOPHOMORE BOY

■ If I saw two girls running down the hall with their arms around each other, I'd run behind and yell, "Faggots!"—SUE FONTAINE

■ I think it is fantastic when two people of the same sex can feel free to express their feelings about each other by touching. A person's confidence needs to be reinforced physically as well as mentally.—DAVE AMUNDSON

■ You know, ever since I started concerning myself with others, I haven't ever had a day worth ruining.—ANN PECKENPAUGH

■ Sometimes I feel really down about not doing enough for myself or others. I begin to wonder if I have any reason for getting up in the morning. But I've been lucky 'cause someone usually says or does something to pick me back up and gives me a reason for living. I wish I could help others in that way, but so often I feel incapable

just when I know they need me most.—SUE KOCHVAR

■ My life right now is a rat race. I'm running from school, to an activity, to homework, to work, to another meeting. You don't win the rat race; you just run it.—SENIOR

■ I feel tired out. Like I should be a dozen people doing a dozen things. But I'm not. I'm only one person nowhere, doing nothing.—MARK ANKARLO

■ Why is it that those you care about don't give a damn about you?—ABBY SHER

(1) Mark Losinski takes a break during Cross Country practice to talk with a couple of friends. (2) Football games provide a good opportunity to be with friends. (3) Laughing with a friend can be the only way to survive a boring class. (4) Nicky Briglia's story sounds unbelievable to Sarah Hanft. (5) Mark Nordman and Jill Foster find a quiet place to talk during the chaos between classes. (6) An empty hall is a rare sight at East and a good time to speak with a friend. (7) During a fire drill, Bill Brown discusses the morning's events with Bob Buchanan and Greg Owens. (8) A moment of solitude is a relief after a routine day at school for Laurie Bangs.

FOLK NIGHT SING-A-LONGS EXPOSE HIDDEN TALENTS

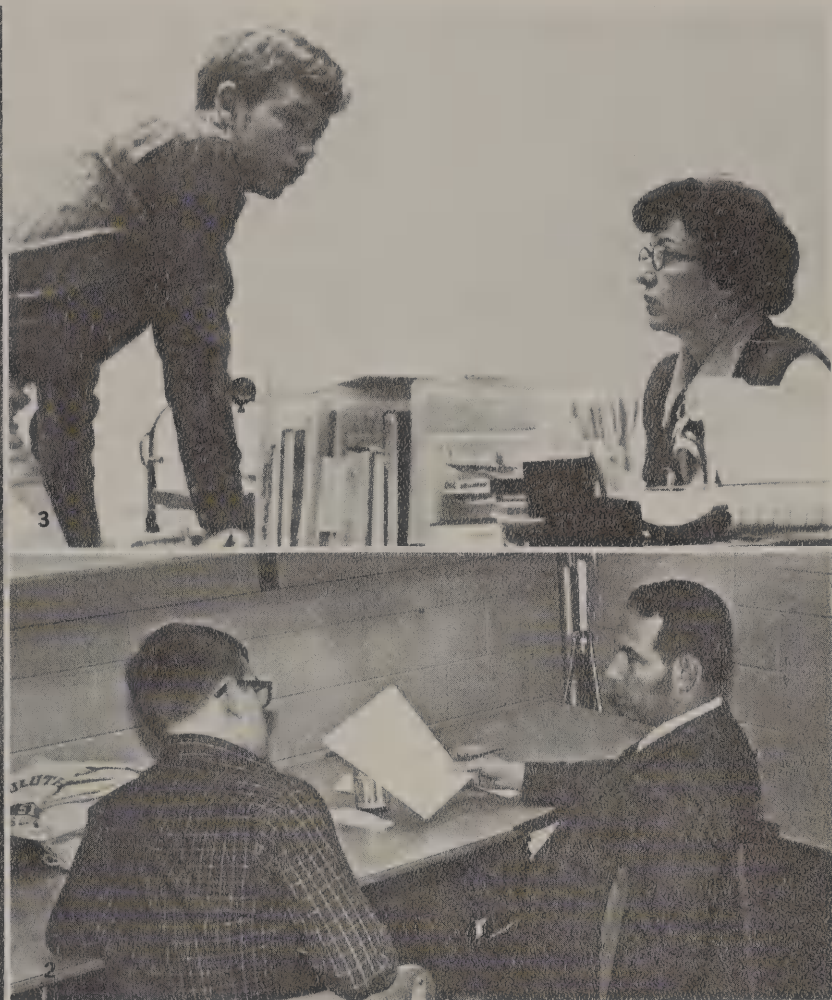

■ I liked the way that Folk Night brought kids together. No one cared how good you were. It wasn't a talent show. You were there to have fun.—MARK BULLER

■ There should be more Folk Nights because it's fun to hear different talents and styles in music. But the P.A. system should be improved.—GAIL CHAPMAN

■ Anybody could go up on stage and sing or do whatever they felt like doing. I went up there and did a really bad job, but it didn't bother anyone else.—KATHY LEEK

(1) Tim Rosenfield accompanies himself on the guitar while singing a humorous song he wrote. (2) Jeff Fifield attentively listens while Tedd Williams sings his own song, entitled "Henry Head." (3) For a switch, Karen Larson and her sisters sing a more serious song.

STUDENT-TEACHER RELATIONS RATE "HIGHLY" AT EAST

■ It is definitely important for teachers and students to be on a more personal basis. This way there is a greater understanding as human beings. Also it is very important that there be a mutual respect.—VIC BITTNER

■ You don't have to worry about the young men teachers at East because most of them are married. You might as well hang up your track shoes and stop running.—SUE KOCHVAR

■ Perhaps my relationships with teachers are TOO good—kids and teachers are too buddy-buddy and there is a lack of discipline. I'm old-fashioned, I believe in a little strictness.—SENIOR BOY

■ It's so hard to get close with people. Schedules are set up so you can't get into a good discussion without having to stop when the bell rings. One time a girl was in a good discussion with Mrs. C., when the class finished she went to homeroom, wanting to come back during an assembly, and the homeroom teacher wouldn't let her out on her word.—DAVE AMUNDSON

■ Some teachers are too hung up on rules and regulations instead of being hung up on students.—SLATS FAIRBANKS

■ I have found a very good student-teacher relationship between mature students and teachers. The immature have the normal 'I HATE TEACHER' attitude.—SCOTT MILLER

■ I asked my teacher several times for help in grammar, but he wouldn't help...he kept telling me to get a tutor.—TERRY STOCKTON

■ C'mon, Kitty, let's go outside and I'll show you some of my passes.—ART AMUNDSON

■ I think both teachers and students must realize that first they are people, and through this common medium, they can better relate as teachers and students.—TERRY RENAUD

■ When a child is in grade school the relationship between the student and teacher should be compared to that of a citizen and dictator. Everything the teacher says sinks in to a child like a stone in quicksand. As the child develops and grows older he finds that everything the teacher says is NOT TRUE. Because of this there is an understanding that the teacher is a human being, not some Adonis, and does make mistakes. A more personal relationship appears between student and teacher more and more each year.—BECKY BRIDGES

■ East rated very highly on the student-teacher relationships for the North Central Evaluation. I think the relationships are very healthy.—ROBERT MIX

(1) Frau Hanson shares her after-school snack with Bud Johnson and Mr. Skogg. (2) Terry Wells is trying to make a "deal" with Mr. Fayling to sell jerseys. (3) Mrs. Hawley explains an upcoming assignment to Reed Hanson, who seems anxious to leave.

(1) The Baja Marimba band entertains an enthusiastic crowd with "Wade in the Water." (2) As Googie Garkon and Moose enjoy each other's company, Grease Monkey and Little Eddie throw big Dating Game kisses. (3) Char Peterson enchants the audience as she sings a love song at the O.E.A. talent show. (4) At last! A skit that received a laugh instead of a boo! (5) Mrs. Jimina Reid smiles after being chosen Mrs. East. (6) Rick and Mike Santini demonstrate one of their death-defying feats to an astonished audience. (7) Indian maidens Mary Riddell and Linda Arseneau perform an acrobatic routine for the student-faculty show.

ASSEMBLIES PROVOKE GROANS, OCCASIONAL LAUGHS

■ I try to avoid the assemblies as much as possible, though the assembly on NASA was very informative.—BOB ROACH

■ There should be more educational assemblies.—SHIRLEY HED

■ The only reason I go to assemblies is because I have stopped smoking.—FRANK BURCAR

■ I suppose I can say the pep assemblies get kids involved in school activities ... I haven't gone to one, though.—BRUCE OLSON

■ I think the pep assemblies are so dumb. All the cheers are stupid. If they had something to move the kids, it wouldn't be so bad.—JON RENNAN

■ I'd rather do my homework than go to an assembly.—MARK LOSINSKI

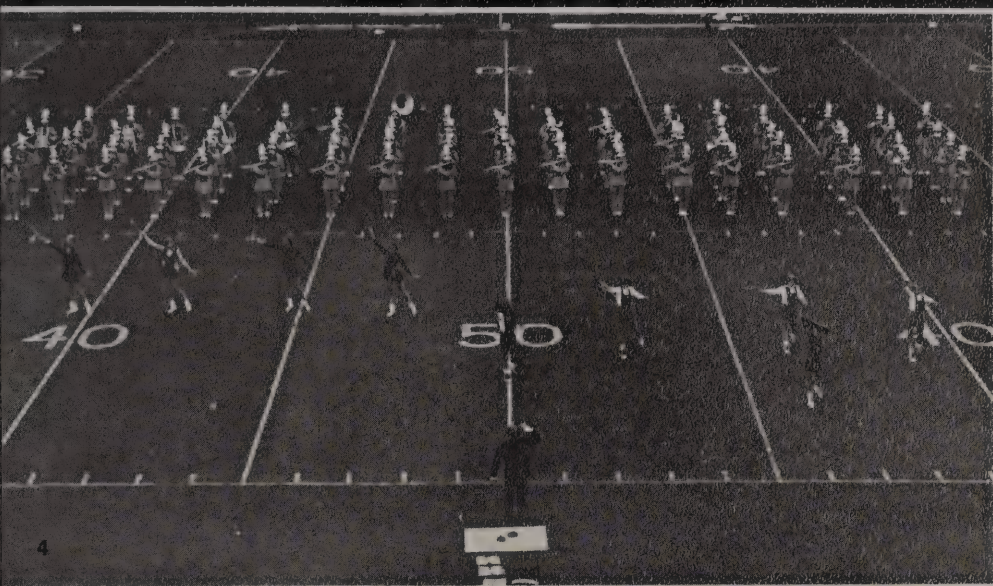

■ Assemblies take too much time. Most kids are only taking four classes, and they lose a whole hour.—ANNE CARTER

■ C'mon kids, blood makes the grass grow!—RICK ENRICO

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES

(1) Candidate Sue Monson takes the coronation walk on HOMECOMING night. (2) The climax of the dance-Bob Mars crowns Jennifer Woodard. (3) Candidate Cheryl Anderson waits excitedly before the coronation. (4) The band marches for the first time. (5) An effigy of a Silver Bay Mariner is burning on the bonfire tower, which was built by two intramural teams, the Harvey Wallbangers and the Machos. (6) Cindy Miller, John Rich, and Debby Polinsky add a balloon to their jalopy for the car carnival. (7) Mike Witzig and Jeff Fifield watch the game from the top stands. (8) Jennifer has many talents including reading plays for her English class. (9) The football team receives a standing ovation during the assembly.

HOMECOMING '71 "EXPLODES INTO COLOR AND LIGHT" AT EAST BONFIRE

■ The car caravan was fun even though there were two accidents. —LESLIE MOORE

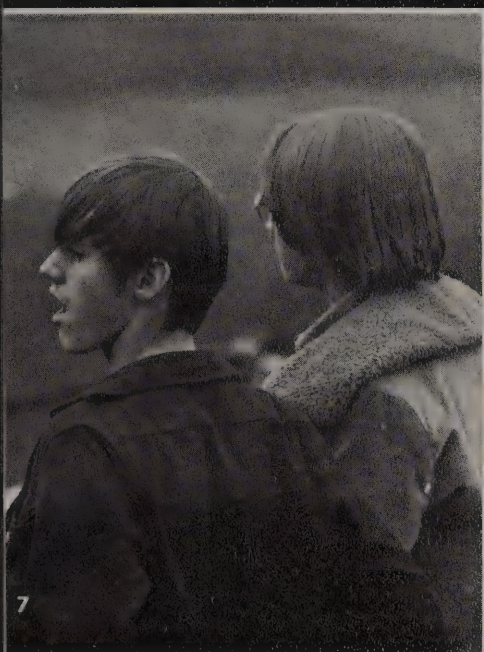

■ The bonfire was beautiful! About half-way through the tower fell in on itself and everything seemed to explode into color and light. —STUDENT

■ It upset me that an effigy of a Silver Bay Mariner was burned in the bonfire. It was a violent display of tribalism. —MARK MACDONALD

■ I felt a little nostalgic that the Homecoming game was my last. —ED KNUTSON

■ I felt kind of bad that I couldn't play the second half of the game since it was my last, but it was a real ecstasy to crown the queen. —BOB MARS

■ It means a lot more than the glory of standing up there. I felt so much a part of the football team this year. I've watched these guys since they were sophomores. I'm just proud of them. —JENNIFER WOODARD

TOWN & COUNTRY DAYS THEME FOR '71 PATCH DANCE

■ there was so much to do—a photographer would take your picture or you could go into the saloon and watch a floor show and drink apple cider. You could tell that a lot of planning went into the whole evening.—SCOTT CHAPMAN

■ I got a real Excedrin headache from planning the Patch Dance, but everyone said they had fun, and that's all that counts.—SUE SWANSTROM

■ I had fun because I dressed up like a little kid and I could act like a little kid, and I wasn't even drunk! —DALE SELLNER

■ The saloon and the floor show were my favorite parts—not to mention the free donuts and apple cider. —MARDI PETERSON

■ I didn't go because I asked 15 boys and none of them would go.—JUNIOR GIRL

CARNIVAL KISSING BOOTH "GROSSES 20 ¢ , 30 PEOPLE"

■ I liked the W.C. Fields movie and the pie-throwing booth. I got hit and I wasn't even in the thing! —TOM BIRK

■ I worked at the carnival selling cotton candy—it was a very sticky situation.—PATTY MARTINSON

■ they shouldn't have charged 75 cents just to get in. —STUDENT

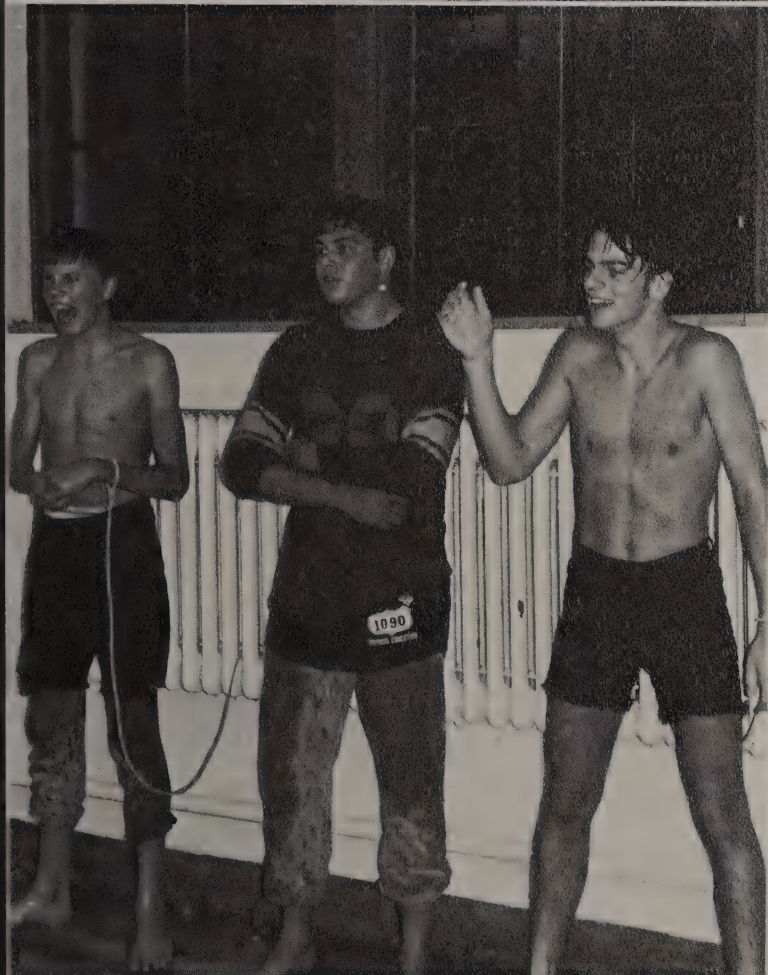

■ The carnival went really well money wise, considering how much we had to work with. Other than that it depended upon a person's personal feelings toward it that determined if it was a real success. I had a lot of fun, but it did take a lot of work, but I was pleased.—CLAUDIA FRANK

(1) Lisa Hoch and Scott Harter find a moment to enjoy their cotton candy. (2) Anne Fleck gets a mouthful while bobbing for apples. (3) Gary Jackson, Greg Owens, and Jim Plewacki have mixed reactions while getting soaked. (4) Mr. Freak pops out of his coffin. (5) Mr. Moe is smeared by Joe Berini.

BARB AND GENE "DID IT TOGETHER" CROWNED SWEETHEART COUPLE

■ Getting Sweetheart Couple was special because Gene and I did it together. It will be a nice remembrance.—BARB STOVERN

■ The Sweetheart Dance was very special to me. I began a whole new relationship with a boy whom I enjoy so tremendously now. The dance itself was mellow and relaxing. But for me it will be a symbol of a beginning.—JUNIOR

GIRL

■ I was surprised that the band was as good as they were ... People that went to the dance didn't just go to stand around, but to dance and enjoy each other. Also, Christmas vacation was a convenient time to have it. I could see everyone I hadn't seen in a while ... also, I like to go out for dinner.—DAVE SYKES

(1) Scott Harter escorts his China doll, Lisa Hoch, into the Sweetheart Dance at Hotel Duluth. (2) Former "Sweetheart," Karin Peck, pins a carnation on a shaken Gene Smith while his Sweetheart, Barb Stovern acknowledges best wishes from friends. (3) Mardi Peterson and Jon Knutson watch the band. "Esquire", as Tracee looks for Jim. (4) The coronation walk into the Moorish Room is a happy one for Tracee Blair and Jim Reid. (5) Jeanette Ness isn't complaining while dancing with Mark Lindahl, who may have something to complain about after there hours of bending over. (6) Cheryl Anderson smiles encouragingly as Jim Bye looks a little pensive before the coronation walk. (7) Jean Johnson and Steve Schelhammer relax between dances as Jim Kennedy watches Chris Lundberg watch something with interest.

(1) Sylvia is ecstatic over Charlie's proposal, while his enthusiasm just bubbles over. (2) Joe makes an effort to recover from the night before while Charlie decides to think it over. (3) Sol still wants to drink the next morning. (4) Sylvia is momentarily distracted before the party. (5) Earl accuses Charlie of stealing his girlfriend.

"TENDER TRAP" ENDS HAPPILY AS EXPECTED

■ I thought John Voorhis was tremendous throughout the play. I especially liked his true-to-life hang-over ... —ROGER OBERG

■ I didn't like it because it was geared for about a sixth-grader and boring, but the acting was good. —PAT HAWLEY

■ Steve Brandwein ad-libbed in spots that needed special attention.—JOHN VOORHIS

■ I had my doubts up until the opening night because most of the kids were inexperienced. Last year everyone knew what they were doing and were worried about me. This year the situation was reversed — I was worried about the others.—STEVE BRANDWEIN

■ All East plays have a similar plot which resolves itself happily at the end of the third act. —SENIOR GIRL

SNO-BEAU GOES ON IN SPITE OF SNOW STORM

■ It didn't seem like such a big deal before, but after I got it ... I suppose it's a status thing.—TERRY MARTIN

■ We spent weeks preparing decorations for this dance; then we have to tear them down in ten minutes. We should leave them up, it would add a little color to the gym.—LEANNE ALEXANDER

■ I don't want to see any shoes on that floor!—NICK SRDAR

■ I had a blast emceeing the Sno-Beau Dance!—KATIE McLEAN

■ I liked the little kid pulling the snowman in the coronation. He was really cute!—LISA HANSON

■ The Sno-Beau Dance would have been more fun if school hadn't been canceled during the day. Then we could have had an assembly.—SENIOR BOY

■ The wrong boy got it!—CHERYL ANDERSON

■ Didn't you hear me? I was the one who sat in the audience and yelled, "Yeah / Streitz!" — RANDY SHIPLEY

■ Before the dance, I thought I was probably the candidate who would appreciate it least. But now afterwards I think I liked the coronation best of all.—KEITH E. JOHNSON

(1) 1972 SNO-BEAU: Terry Martin, Candidates: (2) Jim Bye (3) Keith E. Johnson (4) Bob Mars (5) Jim Reid (6) Gene Smith (7) John Streitz (8) Bob Verchota.

STUDENT-LED ONE-ACT PLAYS INVOLVE 45 KIDS

■ I tried out because my brothers and sisters had been in plays at East, and I always liked watching them from the audience. I wanted them to have a chance to watch me, so I tried out to see if I really could make it—and I did!—DAVE BAGLEY

■ I wasn't surprised that I made it because there was a shortage of boys for the male roles.—JIM PAULFORD

■ My friend went out of town and asked me to do him a favor, so I was in the play—my first one!—JON KONONEN

■ Nobody noticed the play. The audience only saw Voorhis, Harter, and Huddleston hamming it up.—RANDY SHIPLEY

(1) Mr. Nethergood is astonished by his wife's latest bit of gossip. (Eugene Huddleston, Heidi Feig) Other cast members of "The Fatal French Dentist" included Scott Harter, Lisa Hoch, John Voorhis and Marsha Brown, directed by Greg MacGarva. (2) A case of mistaken identities disgusts Ivan Konrad. (Rob Soderstrom) (3) Polly Andrews used her feminine charms in dealing with her stubborn father. (Patty Barnes) (4) Mrs. Andrews guards her son Fred from her angry husband, Homer. (Shirley Hed, Jeff Sund, Rick Wallin) Also participating in "Are We Dressing?" were Scott Carlson, Carla Solberg and Sue Olin. Directed by Jackie Reeves. (5) Mr. Foot is astounded by Mrs. Foot's answers to a "social acceptability" questionnaire. (Scott Harter, Lisa Hoch) (6) Agnes attempts to gain employment by telling the Vice-President how "handsome" he is. (Sue Bowman, Jim Paulford) Also appearing in "The Apollo Of Bellac" were David Bagley, Rob Hoch, Barb Fox, Mike Morgenstern, Steve Reich, Jon Kononen, Mark Bufkin, and Sara Spicer. Directed by Sarah Bartzten.

(1) Although "Mardi Grey" was the 1972 Red and Grey theme, the sophomores chose to decorate their hall as an enchanted forest. (2) Aiming carefully, Tom Jackson flings a ping at the pong tournaments. (3) Dr. X and Pretty Boy Hennig lock holds in All-Star wrestling. (4) Dave M. Jones and Kevin Griffin model the latest Miss East fashions. (5) A battle of the pigs takes place at the annual cake-eating contest. (6) Sophomores and seniors leap for the ball in powderpuff basketball.

MISS EAST ATTENDANTS AND ESCORTS: (1) Debbie Bennett, Rick Enrico; (2) Jody Jacobson, Stan Pollan; (3) Nancy Lake, Scott Chapman; (4) Sue Monson, Jeff Sund; (5) Paula Schultz, Roger Oberg; (6) Karen Southworth, Jim Reid. HONORLYTES: (7) Tracee Blair, Diane Dahlke; (8) Sue Schmidt, Barb Stovern.

RED & GREY WEEK: SENIORS WIN HALL DECOR THIRD YEAR IN A ROW

■ In the cake-eating contest, somebody pushed me up there to feed Dave Wicker's face, so I did. He bit my fingers while I did it, but it was fun because he won.—KATHY SILL

■ Red & Grey Week is generally good for the students because it gives everyone a chance to participate in a school activity. It also gives kids something to do at night if they don't have anything else to do.—FRED BORRESEN

■ The ping-pong tournaments are great, but me and (Pete) Bensoni are going to take it all.—JIM BRUNDAGE

■ I'm glad that the Juniors won powderpuff basketball because I am a Junior.—PETE BENSONI

■ The Morgan Park basketball game at the end of Red & Grey Week was pretty much of a slaughter. The score was 18-3 at the end of the first quarter.—MARY JORDET

■ I think decorating the halls is good because it gives each class a chance to do something together.—PEGGY MUNSON

■ Decorations brighten up the halls, and it is interesting to walk through them to classes. I don't like it when kids tear them down, though.—NANCY HEIKKILA

■ After winning the hall decorations as sophs and juniors, how could we miss as seniors?—SEN-

IOR BOY

■ I'm glad Claudia Frank was crowned Miss East because I've had a crush on her since sophomore year.—WAYNE SANDERSON

■ Mrs. Bartle suggested that we have honorlytes for the first time this year. I thought it was a really neat idea because it was so unique. Now it'll probably be a tradition—and we started it!—DIANE DAHLKE

■ There's a 1970 Buick in the lower parking lot. Would the owner please move it? It's been hit several times. So if it's your car, you're the lucky winner!—JACKIE REEVES

EAST LOOKS AT JESUS PEOPLE, EDUCATION, VOTING

■ The Jesus Movement can't be all bad if it can actually take kids off dope.—PAUL ZASLASKY

■ I think that the Jesus Movement that has come about as a result of the revivals held in Duluth is mostly a fad.—STEVE ANDERSON

■ I think getting involved with the voter registration is really important ... Taking part in caucuses is where you can get a fundamental change.—NANCY SANDERS

■ It's good to have kids register to vote in school because many kids won't go out and do it on their own.—SARA GORANSON

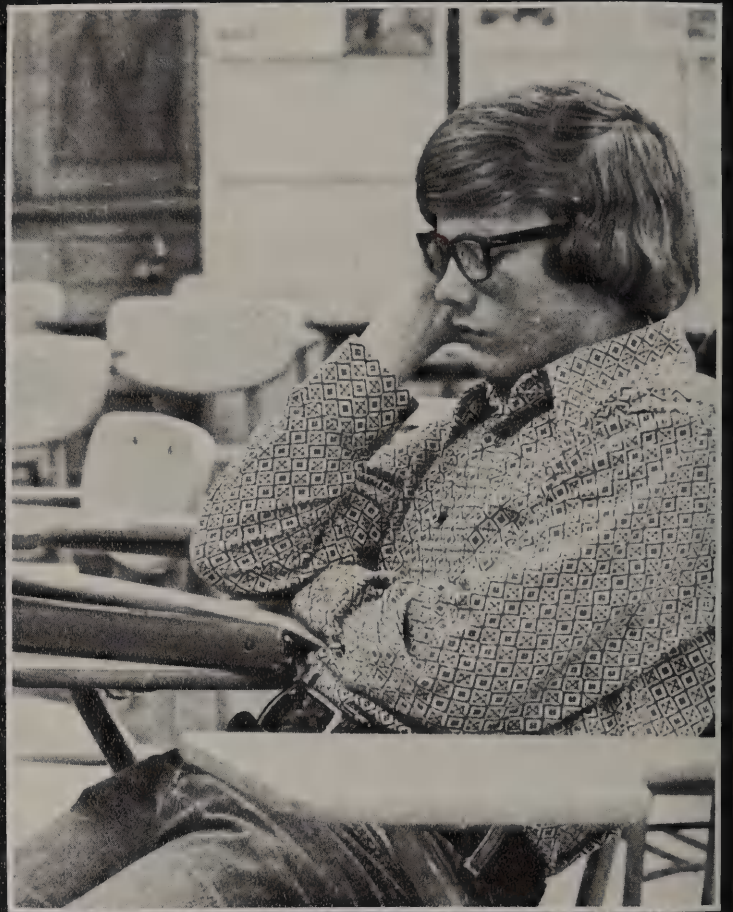

■ I dropped out of school to drop into education. It has given me new perspectives and time to explore my interests. I have discovered that some subjects that have been boring in school are now fascinating. Dropping out of school has opened up exciting new challenges which are leading to a much more meaningful life.—ANN DIZARD

(1) 18-year olds get the vote: Buttons now sprinkle the lapels of East students, urging all to register. (2) Eastites were part of the march for Jesus that included over 2800 Duluthians. (3) Seniors swear U.S. allegiance to two members of the voter registration committee as Snow White looks on. (4) "He's got East High School in His hands..."

ACADEMICS

NEW SEMESTER COURSES OFFER VARIETY OF CLASS CHOICE

■ Three years from now all those things you avoided studying in high school will catch up with you. You'll be surprised. The kids will scream to get back the 10th, 11th, and 12th grade classes. They will back the old traditional way. Mark my words!—JANE HONIGMAN

■ I like the idea of semester classes because you get a greater variety of classes to choose from. It's like starting school over in January because there are new teachers, a new atmosphere, and a new chance to do well.—TIM BOOTH

■ The semester classes idea is great! I didn't have to take a full year of first semester social studies.—DEAN STYNSBERG

■ Having a variety of classes to choose from is swell, but you still have to pick one to vegetate in.—GLEN GEVING

■ A good thing about the semester classes is that if you did poorly during the first semester, you can forget about it and start over all over. Another thing with the semester classes is that you get to know more people.—SHARON HAGGY

■ My new semester courses worked out fantastically, but wouldn't you know, the classes I'm most frustrated with are the full-year ones that I can't get out of.—SENIOR GIRL

■ I'm glad we get different teachers for all courses. It's boring with one teacher for a class all year long.—RICK WALLIN

■ I was really lucky because I got a good schedule, but I can see why many kids were disappointed with the system because they didn't get the classes they wanted and the ones which they needed for college.—SUE HAMMEL

■ I didn't have any choice of classes because I'm a sophomore and all the good stuff was taken before I had a chance to get to it.—BARB MORRIS

■ I think some of the courses are a waste of time. Some kids just take them for the credit.—BARB BRONIKOWSKI

■ I didn't like registration because our homeroom was near the end. There was nothing left and a lot of kids got stuck in classes they didn't want.—CELIA FELSEMBERG

■ I don't think enough is required of us in order to graduate. The average person should have a general knowledge of every branch of science and history. He should have enough math to be able to keep a budget, and enough English to speak and write our language.—GINNY COMSTOCK

■ I think the sophomores should be able to register first or second since they take more classes. A lot of the classes offered aren't going to help a person unless he plans to major in it. Math is an exception, though . . . English should be an elective after you learn to speak it well.—KEVIN STINSON

■ Because seniors get first pick, I really didn't get the courses I wanted, and the ones I got aren't going to help me after I get out of college. I want to major in art, and I couldn't even get an art course.—LEANNE ALEXANDER

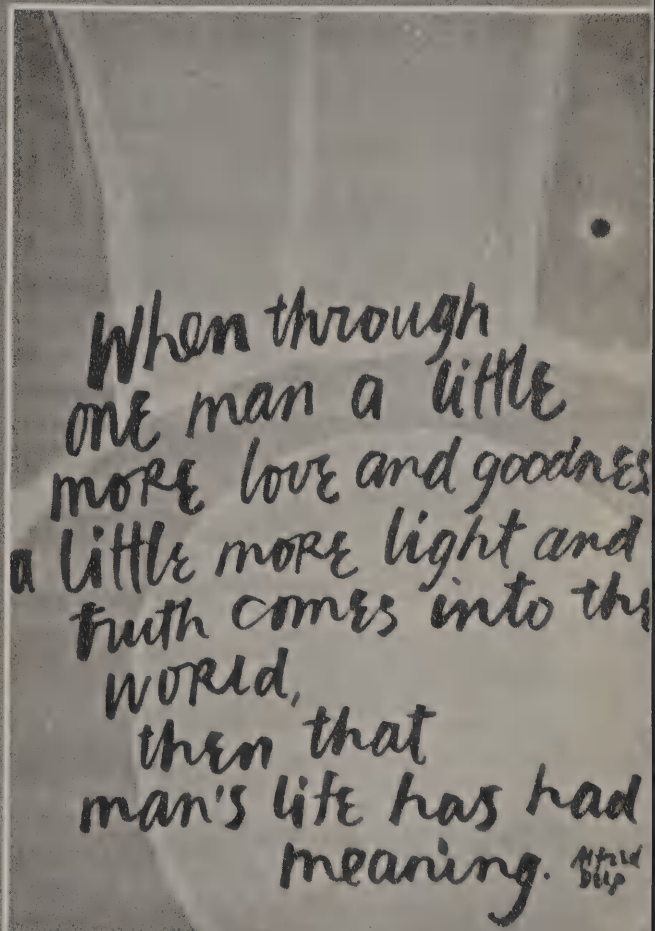

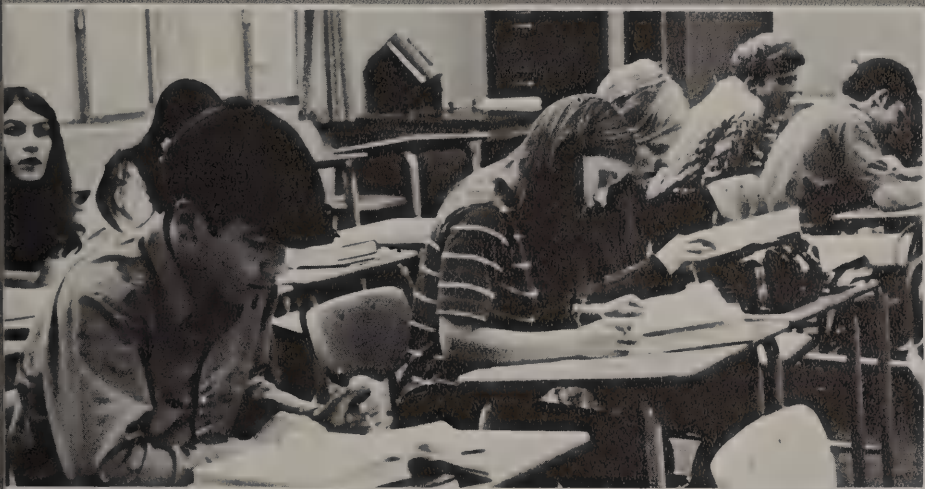

■ For sophomores, registration isn't much more than a gamble of what courses you'll be taking.—MARY BERGAN

■ The grading system isn't good because each teacher has his own individual way of grading. It isn't fair.—JUDY HOSHAL

■ I don't like the advisor system. There should be an equal number of sophomores, juniors, and seniors allowed per teacher. It's more of a popularity contest between teachers now.—SUE SABROSKI

It's too bad the courses hadn't been planned before they were started at the beginning of the year.—RANDY CLEMONS

■ I think that semester classes are good although there are a few rough edges to be rounded out.—LAURIE HALLIGAN

COMMUNICATIONS:

ENGLISH DEPT. RE-CHRISTENED, COURSES ADDED

■ Humanities is a place to share what you think and what you've read. It's not really like a class, but a show and tell session.—JIM MUEHLBACH

■ I like Man and His Search for Faith, and I hope to come to some conclusion in my own mind about God and religion.—PETE BENSONI

■ I think that Man and His Search for Values is a good course if you're a strong person and you know what your morals are.—NANCY GROSS

■ I took Man Assassinates Man because the name fascinated me. I think that if we find the answer we will know why there is so much violence today ... The class isn't just about deaths of presidents. We also looked at Malcolm X and others.—PAT GORDON

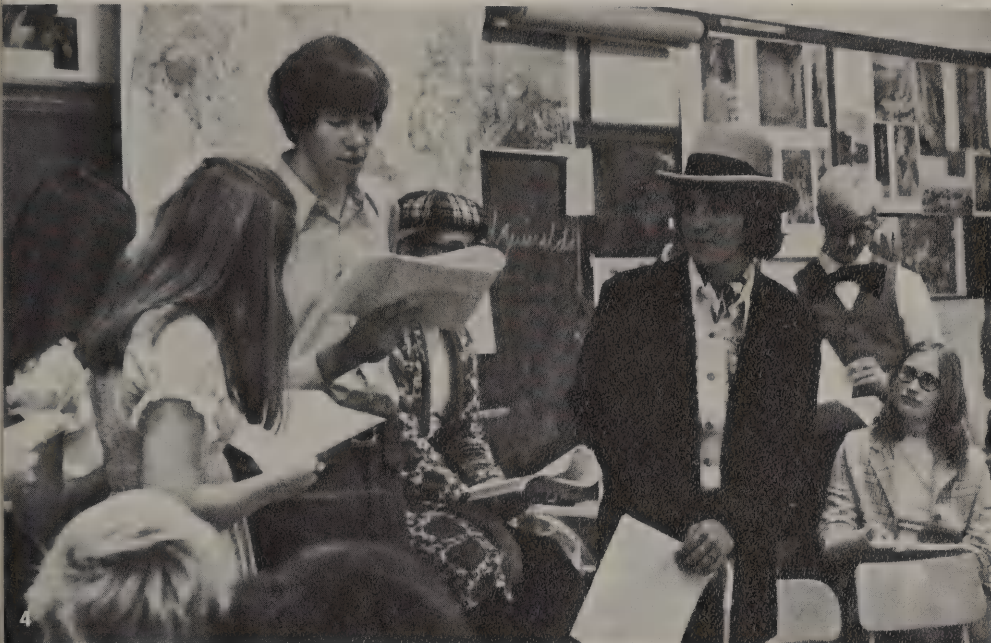

■ Utopian and Anti-Utopian Literature was funny because the teacher hadn't read the books he assigned to us. He had to wade through Brave New World and Utopia right along with us.—SENIOR GIRL

■ We go too much into the background of the stuff in You Are There and not enough time is spent on the literature itself.—MIKE MORGENSTERN

■ All we do in American Literary Heritage I is get a sheet telling us what to read and another sheet telling us what to write. She won't teach our class. I don't think she likes the subject.—JO PICCANATO

■ One day she passed around a box of crackers and everyone had one. That's about the most unusual thing that happened in English 10. Otherwise it was the normal grammar junk.—SUE SABROSKI

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPT. ADDS TEN NEW COURSES

■ I understand the Vietnam War is still going on . . . I heard it on "Laugh-In."—BOB CANFIELD

■ Current Issues is probably one of the more important courses in the department, Social Studies. It's good to know about world happenings.—JEAN JOHNSON

■ The grade in Current Issues should not depend so much on class participation since it's hard to argue something that you don't have facts on.—DEBBIE VOELK

■ The teacher should grade some on class participation, but not much because I'm shy and usually just listen.—LORI LEVINE

■ I think Social Studies will help anyone who is interested in really living.—NANCY JENSEN

■ How could I dislike my Social Studies class? I skipped all the time.—KATHY SIPILA

■ The most rewarding type of study occurs when there is the least amount of structure possible and students' and teachers' ideas can interplay freely.—MARCIE SUZANNE HOLT

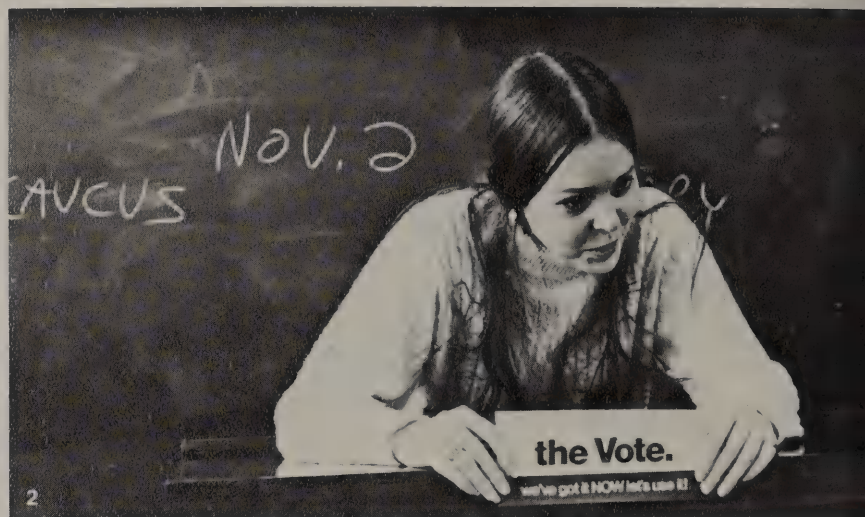

■ In my Jurisprudence class, I feel that everyone got a good insight into what our rights really are. We got involved in discussions about the "why" and "what if's" of our laws and how they affect us if we are arrested or even suspected of a crime.—ALICE JENSEN

■ All economics is to me is seeing movies, having quizzes on them, seeing movies, having quizzes on them . . .—LISA KIM

■ Last semester my teacher told us some unbelievable things about the meat-packing industry. It got me interested, so I read The Jungle.—MONTE OLLENBURGER

■ The worst thing that ever happened to me in a Social Studies class was in 7th grade. I didn't cover my book and the teacher made me do it in class, and everyone found out I didn't know how.—CRAIG JOHNSON

SENIOR STUDIES:

"WHAT DO YOU DO IN THERE, STUDY SENIORS?"

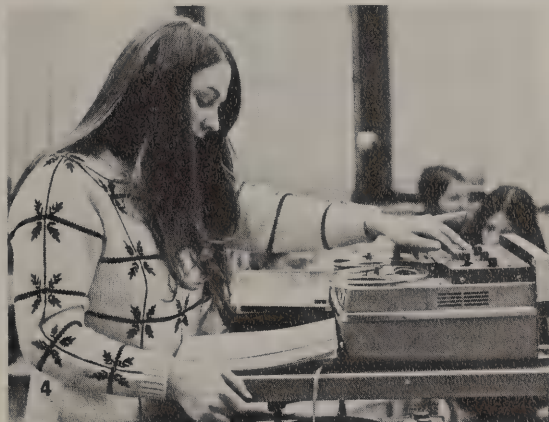

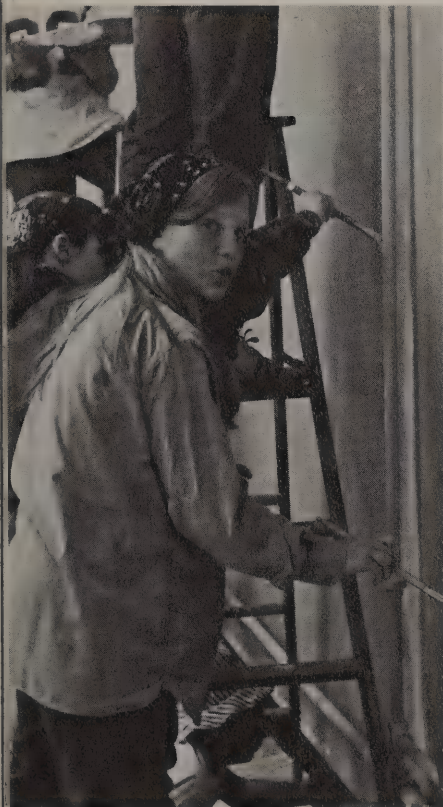

■ Senior Studies is better than a traditional sociology or English class because it blends social studies, English, art, and music together. I can relate to this better because life is a combination of all.—BETH GROBE

■ All we ever do is talk about things we're going to do.—SUE SMITH

■ I took Senior Studies so I wouldn't ever have to worry about more than one test on one day. The four teachers in Senior Studies know what the others are planning, and the work isn't such a struggle ... Because it's a three hour class, sometimes lectures can only run forty-five minutes or so, but in Senior Studies it can run into two hours ... The worst thing about Senior Studies is the half-hour spent on attendance.—MARY ANNE PETERSON

■ I shouldn't have taken French as far as I have. Sometimes I know an answer, but I don't raise my hand unless I'm sure it's absolutely right because it might sound dumb. But it's never right. If I start answering questions, everybody stares at me for the whole period. But I don't get laughed at as much now because I don't get called on as much. I like it better that way. ■ I heard from friends that if you take physics before you take chemistry, it's a lot easier.—JULIE CRAIG

■ I thought ecology class was going to be dealing a lot with pollution, but it's really just a continuation of biology.—MARY WAGNER

■ I hated biology so much! I never went, especially on the days they dissected. That made me sick. Mr. Verchota got mad at me a lot, but I don't care. I just couldn't take that class.—SENIOR

GIRLS DOMINATE HOME ECONOMICS DESPITE THE BOYS

■ Being a boy in home economics is like a girl in small motors. The girls try to be superior over the boys in home ec. and tell them what to do. Home economics for a boy is very interesting and a good experience. I think more boys should take the course because it teaches them to be independent. In case the wife dies or goes on a vacation, the man should be able to take over the duties of his wife. If a man doesn't plan to get married, the course would be very helpful. ■ As principal, my greatest rewards have come through the student contacts that I've experienced. ■ I was really shocked at how personable Mr. Roffler was. I went into his office to get an application for the SAT test and found myself talking about what my brother and sister were doing.—BECKY BRIDGES

■ Smiles and nods aren't always enough.—LESLIE BALL

■ I feel that counselors are among the hardest working educational personnel on staff at East.—NANCY ROONEY

■ They try, but they're only human.—PAT HANNINEN

■ The enjoyment in counseling is that each situation is unique and the approach is unique for each problem.—ROGER ROFFLER

■ I like to work with kids because they're adaptable to accept changes better. Testing and things like that are just routine . . . Teachers come in just as often as students. Students can get transferred from a class where they don't like a teacher, but what's a teacher to do? He can't get out of having a certain student.—DAVID FRASER

■ Since becoming a high school counselor, I have found no day, week, or month is the same; each providing an air of excitement and challenge in assisting our faculty and youth with decisions and difficulties.—JOE BERINI

"STUDENT COUNCIL AS A REPRESENTATIVE BODY IS A FAILURE"

■ When I joined Student Council, I had an honest desire to help my school, my classmates, and my community. I believed that Student Council would be the best place to satisfy that desire . . . The Student Council is an efficient, productive organization, and to anyone who says differently—I'd like to see them do better.—JAY GRYTDAHL

■ The Student Council as a representative body is a failure . . . Student Council serves a different function than it once did. It's evolved over the years. Two years ago it was hip, mod, relevant and beginning to concern people outside of school. The peak of relevance last year was Awareness Week. And they had a Bike and Bus Day. Both were misdirected. It was a vague idea that was more concerned with the effect than the cause. For one day people rode bikes or walked to school. The next day the parking lot was full of cars again . . . This year we're trying for something that's lasting. The student-led classes are something tangible. What is better than someone sharing what they know with someone else who has an interest? . . . We've changed some attitudes, involved more people.—JOHN STREITZ

■ Any idiot can get on Student Council. It's what you do after you're on that counts.—SENIOR GIRL

■ Student Council tries and tries, but its activities just lack depth for the vast majority. The meetings are virtually meaningless—they're too pre-occupied with parliamentary procedure and other BS. The Executive Board can't help but take over because the members are so apathetic.—ALISON WILLIAMS

■ . . . a disillusioned Executive Board does everything while the representatives do nothing . . . Executive Board has disintegrated into an hour party of loosely-tied game players . . . Perhaps the most frustrating thing is trying to please. Last fall we were going to appeal to and please the masses, but we got no feedback. The inspiration was lost as we just couldn't initiate enough projects to please all the people . . . What it comes down to is that Student Council isn't giving me what I want, as I don't want power, popularity, etc. Maybe I could offer Student Council something, but I lack motivation. Perhaps I'm just lazy.—GEORGE MORGENSTERN

(1) Student Council sessions break up into committee meetings giving Ann Crowell time to work with Peggy Olson, Barb Boekhoff, Nancy Lynch, and Patty Barnes on the Social and Relations Committee. (2) Ed Knutson listens as Dan Esbensen gives the DISC report. (3) Jackie Reeves, concessions chairman. (4) Scott Anderson and Dan Udesen experiment in the Natural Foods cooking class. EAST WELCOMES STUDENTS FROM FINLAND, GERMANY, SOUTH VIETNAM

■ I have only lived with one family, in one city, in one state. I cannot say what America is like. It's so different in Florida or in California, and I haven't lived there. I don't know America yet.—VESA JARVINEN

■ In America, it seems to me that there are two important things: school and family. But in Germany, they play a minor role. The important thing is the individual and his interests.—EVI FABER

■ All right, I will talk about sports. That is my favorite topic. I think if you've got a good education and you don't have good health, it doesn't help you. You need a good education and good health, but don't make sports so important like you do. You talk about sports every day in school, and the football players and the basketball players are so important. They are V.I.P.'s all the time. I enjoy going to the games, but not talking about the games every day. Kids seem to be very immature because they have nothing else to talk about but sports. I don't want to go out with a boy and hear only about sports.—DO DIEM-NHU

■ The Brazilians were misinformed about drugs here. They thought every-one in America was high . . . The Brazilians are much more expressive and less inhibited. When I met girls on the street, we exchanged kisses on the cheek, and if I met a boy, we shook hands.—PAULA SCHULTZ

(1) Evi Faber, AFS student from Germany. (2) Vesa Jarvinen, Youth For Understanding student from Finland. (3) Do Diem-Nhu, AFS student from South Viet Nam. (4) Paula Schultz, Americans-A-broad returnee from Brazil. (5) Vesa points out his home city in Finland to Sara Spicer. (6) Diem-Nhu teases Julie Mickelson while Sue Sabroski prepares to bombard them both with water. (7) AFS CLUB MEMBERS: Row 1-S.Swanstrom. Row 2-J.Wheeler, C.Sink. Row 3- S.Spicer, C.Hanson, W. Johnson. Row 4-C.Busse, J.Mickelson, S.Mattson. Row 5- J.Cohen, A. St. Germain, S.Bjork, D.Klauer. Row 6-S.Sabroski, P.Woodard, L.Reid, M.Borchert, A.Sher, G.Comstock, A.Kohlbray.

CHEERLEADERS COMPLAIN OF STEREOTYPING, SCHOOL APATHY

■ The only thing that frustrates me is the poor attendance at most of the games and the lack of enthusiasm at pep assemblies. Every single one of the teams at East is good, and I can't understand why they don't get more of a following. —LISA SHEFCHIK

■ We've changed our uniforms this year and some of the cheers, but no one knows because no one comes to the games. —JUDY MARS

■ It's frustrating when people complain about things yet refuse to help. I always hear sarcastic remarks about signs for games, but when there's a sign-up list to make them, only three people sign up. —MARDI PETERSON

■ Cheerleading involves a lot of practice, learning the cheers, pep assemblies, and sign-making for the games. Also, the cheerleaders put on Homecoming, and that's a pretty big job. We also teach the cheers to others who try out for

cheerleading.—AMY LEE

■ Through cheerleading I built up my self-confidence, and after a while I didn't mind standing up in front of people.—ANNE KOHLBRY

■ It's great to be able to lead your school in cheers for the support of your team—especially when it's a winning team!—BRENDA LUNDSTROM

■ We're all different. We have to act like this because it's a part.

Cheerleading is what we really want to do, so we ignore the comments.—BARB STOVERN

■ Cheerleading is a big part of my life, but it's not all of it. I do other things, too.—JILL FOSTER

■ I'm not all sweetness and light. I get mad, too. Maybe the kids who don't know the cheerleaders think they're always the rah-rah girls, but people who know them know they're not.—JUDY BOND

BASKETBALL SQUAD: (1) Brenda Lundstrom performs a split jump in perfect form. (2) Judy Bond finishes her you-rah-yah. (3) Amy Lee's pep helps to make the fans want to get involved. (4) Ann Kohlbry leads a side-line cheer. (5) Mardi Peterson sings the school song. (6) Cheryl Anderson; Happiness is a basket. HOCKEY SQUAD: Cheering at hockey games involves a lot of effort on the part of (7) Judy Mars, (8) Barb Stovern, (9) Kathy Hughes, (10) Jill Foster, (11) Lisa Shetchik, and (12) Julie Craig. (13) After a year's absence, Gregory Greyhound returns as Kina Brenny. (14) "B" SQUAD: (L-R) Betsy Rooney, Kay Holleman, Robin Jamar, Jean Johnson, Mary Wagner, Becky Hueller, Abby Andresen, Linda Jacobs.

MAJORETTES TWIRL FIRE FOR FIRST TIME

■ We're twirling fire for the first time this year. The East majorettes have never done that before. It's frustrating when it seems like we're not very important to the crowd. It would make us more willing to twirl if the kids would back us. We need that boost — KARLA HEIB.

■ Mrs. L'Heureux was the advisor for the majorettes, but Mr. Tor-mondsen said the majorettes should be under the band director because they work with the band so much. So he's our new advisor as of this year. We twirled at the East-Cathedral hockey game in February. That was the first time the majorettes had twirled on ice in five or six years. — KATHY DAVIDSON.

(1) "A" SQUAD: Diane Clarke, Kathy Davidson, Roberta Peterson, Karla Heib, Michelle Reese. (2) "B" SQUAD: Row 1: Terri Stockton, Sue Miller. Row 2: Kathy Kaple, Tricia Sweeney. Row 3: Debbie Johnson, Carol Wilmot. (3-8) Majorettes provide entertainment at various sports events using fire, streamers and lights on the end of their batons.

"YOU DON'T HAVE TO KNOW HOW" FOR DRILL TEAM

■ We had two car washes and made $75.00 for new uniforms. We like to get a new uniform every year because it's something different.—DONNA TVEIT

■ You don't have to know how to twirl a flag or a baton to try out for the Drill Team, and you still have a good chance of making it.—LINDA KREKELBERG

■ It was really bad when we couldn't get into the building to practice because the snowstorm had closed the school. So when the game started we knew we were going to blow it, and we couldn't do a thing about it. Now that Mr. Tormondsen's our advisor, we're getting together with the band more. He's a good critic, too, and helps us with our routines.—DEBBIE GRIER

(1) Perfect form is very important to Linda Krekelberg. (2) Kim Davidson concentrates on doing her routine well. (3) Debbie Grier not only gets enjoyment out of performing but also seeing the rest of the squad doing well. (4) DRILL TEAM: Debbie Grier, E. Barb Bronikowski, A. Linda Krekelberg, S. Mary Larson, T. Donna Tveit, Greyhound Kim Davidson.

BAND MARCHES ON AFTER "TEN YEARS" PLAYING SIDELINES

■ It's good for the kids to march because it teaches them discipline. —BILL TORMONDSEN

■ This year in band we are learning how to march, how to play as a team...it's different because I never played at assemblies and I never marched, but then I wasn't at East last year either. —CORALEE OLSON

■ We marched during Homecoming, which was the first time this was done in about ten years. The band has a lot more enthusiasm about doing different things this year. This enthusiasm has been stimulated very much by the new band director. —JANICE HILL

■ The band is the best yet. Mr. Tormondsen is really getting involved. By the end of the year it will be a band the whole school can be proud of. —SARA GORANSON

■ Some of those kids in band are people that I have known and been friends with for as long as six years . . . Band isn't just an organization, we're a close-knit 98-member family that has the same problems and joys that any other family has.—KAREN SOUTHWORTH

(2) Mr. Tormondsen gives a pep talk before the parade (3) "I'm not quite a size 16, Mr.Tormondsen." (4) Band in formation at Homecoming game. (5) Nancy Christianson pipes the Marlboro song with the rest of the band.

■ . . .band is more than a class, it's a group . . .to me, being a member of band means . . .having to take my instrument home every weekend.—BILL MUNGER

■ To me, being a member of band means . . .being a part of one of the best organizations at East . . .trying my hardest to keep East

as good as it's always been.—KEITH CLEMENT

■ To me, being a member of band means . . .looking forward to my best class, besides lunch!—ALAN ROSENZWEIG

■ I'm sitting first chair, which means I have to play the Hallelujah Chorus!—PAULA SCHULTZ

■ To me, being a member of band means . . .playing at the games, pep assemblies, marching, representing our school, and enriching school spirit.—JOAN VUKOVICH

ORCHESTRA TAKES "MORE TEAMWORK THAN ANY TEAM"

■ Okay. I want this cleaned up. It sounds like mud!—BERYL PETTIGREW

■ Mr. Pettigrew is so easy to get along with and he makes orchestra something to look forward to rather than something to dread.—CAROL OSTAZESKI

■ I took orchestra because I have a crush on Mr. Pettigrew.—GAIL JOHNSON

■ Orchestra is a real different organization of strange people.

—STUDENT

■ Being in orchestra is quite an experience for a wind instrument player because one's playing is so much more "exposed" than it is when playing with a band.—ANNE MARDEN

■ Orchestra ... satisfies my interior needs for creating the finest music.—JEAN BREKKE

■ I took orchestra because my mommy said I have to ... and that's the truth!—JON KONONEN

■ Orchestra gives me a chance to express myself musically, and it gives me a sense of accomplishment knowing that I am helping forty-eight other people reach a level of excellence in performance. Orchestra requires more teamwork than any football, basketball, or hockey team ever demanded, and it gives me a good feeling to know that I am doing my best and putting forth 100%—ROLF KROGSTAD

A'CAPPELLA CHOIR INVADES EUROPE, RETURNS VICTORIOUS

■ Performing—this is what we're here an hour every day for. If we didn't go out and perform, we'd just shrivel up!—ROBERT MIX

■ In 7th grade I asked for General music, but the computer gave me choir. I liked it so much I stayed in.—MARK FILIPI

■ I'm trying to improve my voice.—JOYCE STRASSBURG

■ When I sing Bach with other people who are really trying, I am accomplishing something positive.

—KEITH E. JOHNSON

■ When I sing, I feel better.—DIANE CLARKE

■ I had heard the East choir ... and I wanted to be a part ... so here I am!—ELLEN SANFORD

■ For about ten years I'd heard about East's fabulous choirs, and I wanted to join—JANA STEIN

■ I took choir because I didn't want to have my sister show me up...—ROB HOCH

■ I took choir because I am the type who wells up frustrations and music's about the only way I can vent feelings.—SCOTT W. MILLER

■ A'Cappella choir with Mr. Mix is like playing with the "champion team."—TERRY KERN

■ My voice box gets dry from the corn flakes every morning, so I let it bleed one hour every day.—STEVE REICH

■ I wanted to learn breath control and practice the high notes.—DIANA TREND

"BIG SISTERHOOD" OF GIRLS LARGEST CLUB AT EAST HIGH

■ Girls' Club is where the girls in the school can get to know each other better and work together.—ROBIN HELLER

■ I joined Girls' Club because, for one thing, I like to join clubs!—DEBI KELLAM

■ Girls' Club means meeting new friends...and becoming close friends.—SUE BJORK

■ Girls' Club gives me a chance to get away from the boys!—SUE KOPISH

■ If we could only have some boys in it, it would be really nice.—JUNIOR GIRL

■ I'm in Girls' Club because I am a homeroom representative and I thought I should be involved in more school activities.—BONNEY GROBE

■ I've always wanted to be a representative for something. Girls' Club seemed like a perfect opportunity to be a part of something useful.—SHARON MARTINDALE

■ This year Girls' Club is doing something every month. There is the Big-Little Sister Tea in October, the Patch Dance in November, Powder-puff Basketball in January, the Father-Daughter Dance in February, March we're having an Easter Party, April is "Create-A-New-You Month," and May is the Mother-Daughter Tea for seniors.—RUTHY ANDRESEN

■ When I was a sophomore, I saw this plaque in Miss Paul's room that said "Quill and Scroll". I didn't know what it was, but I was so impressed with its journalistic significance that I said, "That's for me!" And it became my one goal. Not that I'm a senior I'm finally on it, but I missed the picture and I'm so mad!!!—ROBBI KENNEY

EAST NEWSPAPER STAFF LOOKING FOR STUDENT INTEREST

■ As a GREYHOUND staffer, I get a good chance to view many things in operation and find out how they run and why. The journalistic side is merely secondary, and my way of letting people know about others.—PETER ISOLA

■ I think the GREYHOUND staff has a hard time creating the type of paper everyone wants, but has succeeded in satisfying a small majority.—JEAN SASSOR

■ I'm on the GREYHOUND staff to further my ability to communicate with people through writing.—TERRY ZAUDTKE

■ What East lacks that every U.S. high school has, it seems, is a good journalism department. The GREYHOUND is extremely neglected at East, but we're working hard to put out a paper, nevertheless.—ANN PECKENPAUGH

■ I really wanted to help the GREYHOUND change its image from its old, routine look to something new and more appealing. That's why we changed to offset printing on newsprint this year . . . The GREYHOUND's function is to serve the students and represent them; this goal cannot be achieved unless the students get involved.—TED DECKER

OPEN MIND: ESSAY CONTESTS SPARK INTEREST IN LITERARY MAG

■ I joined OPEN MIND not as much to have my creations analyzed as to understand the ideas of others.—STEVE BRANDWEIN

■ OPEN MIND isn't an elite club. We meet at members' homes and usually sit on the floor to discuss the submissions.—EVE PECKENPAUGH

■ The search for companions of the same nature as one's self for some never ends. But I have found mates who share my ideals and goals in OPEN MIND.—ANN PECKENPAUGH

■ Criticism is difficult for me to take because I write. Sometimes listening to comments of others upsets me, but I keep coming back.—KATHIE DESHAW

■ Although OPEN MIND may be beneficial to some authors, I feel that some people criticize only to satisfy their own egos, and not to help the person who wrote the piece.—NANCY GROSS

■ I joined because I need help with my writing. It's working, too.—LAURIE HERTZEL

■ Writing's my life. It's the only thing I know how to do well, and if I discover I can't even do that, then I'm nothing. If OPEN MIND people read my work and say "I can relate to that," then I've succeeded. When they sit and say nothing, I know I've missed it.—ROBBI KENNEY

YEARBOOK GETS NEW FACE, NEW ROOM, NEW ADVISOR

■ This year's book will be the best ever because of the innovations. The copy should be so much more alive with personal quotes. I like our layout plan—there should be a lot to catch the eye on every spread.—CLAUDIA PATTON

■ I'm too awkward for a cheerleader; I have no musical talent; I can't run fast or jump high; I'm not exactly officer material; and my grades aren't good enough, so, in a way, the BIRCH LOG got stuck with me.—LISA O'MELIA

■ It seems everyone is always after me—either for pictures or homework. I almost want to hide or become invisible.—STEVE ANDERSON

■ I never see any kids. Mel locks me in the darkroom at night. But that's okay, I love the safelights, the tanks, the enlarger ... —JON CARTER

■ I'm on the general staff. I keep asking everyone if they need help, but they really can't have me do much because it would be hard to explain, or it's better if they do it themselves.—MARY BORCHERT

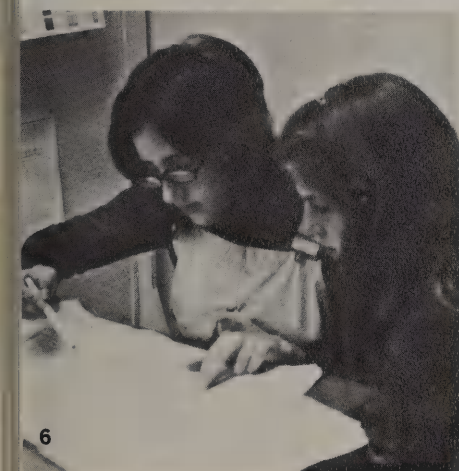

■ This year's book is going to be the best ever because it's taking a lot of time, tears, and frustration on the part of the editors. They are really dedicated. Imagine working on Saturday nights!—JODY JACOBSON

■ I made the cover and worked out the endsheets, both of which, I hope, turn out the way I want.—KITTY MICKELSON

■ My biggest peeve is that whenever someone brings in candy or cookies, it's gone in 15 minutes.—BARB MORRIS

■ I know it's a pain answering all the questionnaires, but how else can we get what the students really feel? Nobody talks to us or when they do they say something like, "I liked it fine," which is totally useless.—KATHY MAGNANT

■ Business manager can be described in one word—headache! By the way, if the book costs $15.00 instead of $6.25 for each person—it's my fault!—TRACEE BLAIR

■ This year's book will be the best ever because it represents the whole student body, not just the kids who hold offices. Everybody has a voice in it.—DENISE JOHNSON

■ I have a feeling that the staff gets more studying, more eating, and more sleeping done in 119 than it does work.—GINNY COMSTOCK

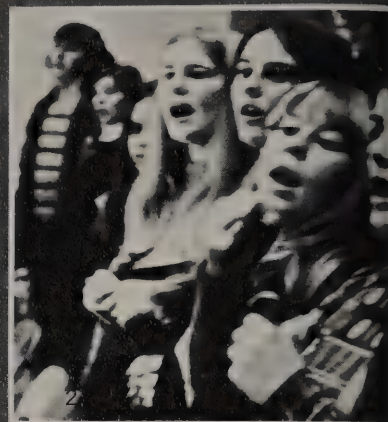

■ When it's the most hectic, that's when I'm happiest. Being a new advisor, moving into a new year-book room has given me ample opportunities to be happy.—MIKE MIERNICKI

■ Through BIRCH LOG I've learned so much about people and myself. Our staff has grown really close—we've had to, under so much stress. My hardest job of all is having to yell at the kids I love.—MELANIE PATTON

■ We're like one big, happy family. Minus the happy at certain times.—ABBY SHER

■ ...when it gets really bad I hide in the darkroom and listen to "Easy Stereo."—JIM LOISELLE

CENTRAL HILLSIDE PROJECT, ECB INVOLVE GETTING INVOLVED

■ I joined East Cheer Boosters because I'm concerned about the apathy at this school. We're trying to get a little school spirit stimulated. With the great teams we have, we should have great spirit.

—ALICE JENSEN.

■ We conduct poster contests for games and plan activities such as the Sportacular during Red & Grey Week.—SUE BJORK

■ Every Saturday, from one to three, we go to Nettleton Elementary School gym and play games with the kids for Central Hillside Project. The kids are usually third to sixth graders, but we have kids who range from three years to 8th grade. Our advisor is Allen Willman, the director of community schools. Nettleton was our choice of school because most of the parents work on Saturdays, and it worked out better.—ANN CROWELL

MODEL UN MOVES TO NEW YORK, OEA, DECA LOOK TO THE FUTURE

■ In Model UN we get together to study past and present world situations. We learn facts about the country we represent, and then act as a citizen of that country.—DEB O'KEEFE

■ We went to New York to sit in on the real United Nations, and we were able to hear the Red Chinese speak for the first time! I'll be reading about that in history books for the rest of my life!—PETER ISOLA

■ I joined OEA (Office Education Association) because it sounded like a fun way to further my office education.—MARY JACKSON

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB OFFERS NEW ANGLES

■ I like Photography Club because of the knowledge I've gained in developing and printing.—MARY KAY NELSON

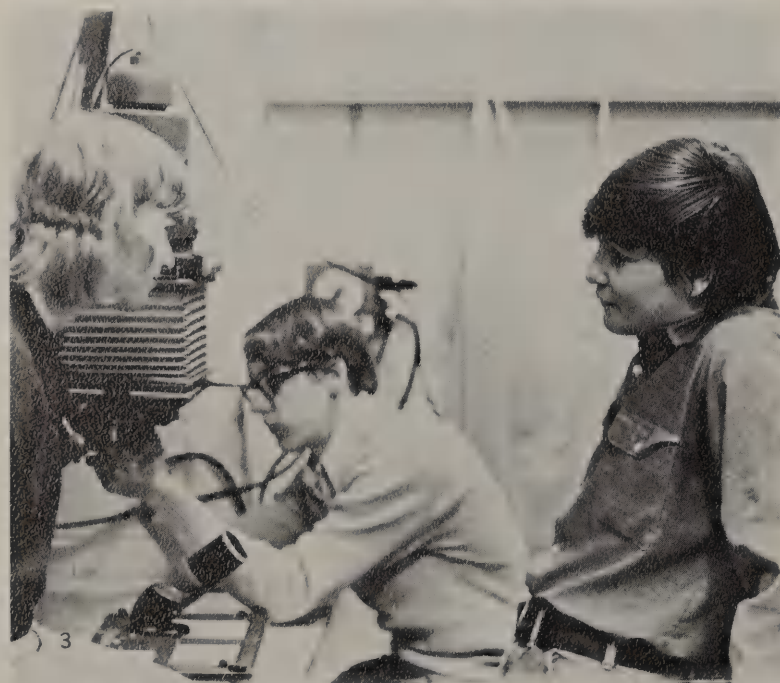

■ The camera brings happiness to me and to the people whose picture I have taken. To see a smile that I produce with a camera is truly a great achievement.—PAT BAILEY

■ I like fooling around with cameras and enlargers.—JIM STELLMAKER

■ I like to try to capture people's expressions and moods in my pictures. I like to print my own pictures because then I can make them any size I want.—PHOTO-GOOFER

■ Camera Club offers me a wide scope of perception through a lens.—ANNE HAMMEN

CHESS CLUB: "...MATING CAN BE FUN"

■ I like Ski Club because I can get lower rates ... I like to see how many people I can knock down ... It's a good feeling to know that you have someone to go skiing with.—ANN FLECK

■ I joined Ski Club because I was one of the ten people who planned the trips and the publicity.—JIM WHEELER

■ I joined Chess Club because I

... love beating my older brother.—CRAIG DEAN

■ Although I lose, I enjoy the stimulating exercise of beating up my brother every time he wins.—SCOTT DEAN

■ ... Activities in Chess Club included the attempt on the other kids' parts to defend their honor against my superior skill.—DAVID KACHELMYER

SPEAKERS RATE A'S IN 60% OF TOTAL ROUNDS

■ Speech involves rotten food, early morning hours, brain-racking memorizing drills, Mr. Minwegen keeping you after till the wee hours, and a sense of humor when you feel like killing a judge.—REINE "SPEAK EASY" BERDIE

■ The only speech meet contest I won last year was the only one they didn't give out awards for.—MARK BUFKIN

■ It's frustrating when you keep running into judges who take one look at you and decide you're a rotten speaker.—JANE OLLENBURGER

■ ...it means working on your speech till you're sick of it and knowing that it's going to flop, then doing well ... The first meet I ever participated in all the judges said I was reading too fast ('I'm in extemporaneous reading'), and in the next one they said I was reading too slow. I tried to please all the people all the time and ended up not pleasing anybody any time.—WAYNE BROWNELL

(1) SPEECH PARTICIPANTS: M.Mount, M. Brown, J.Stein, L.Jacobs, D.Voelk, P.Bailey, C.Halenbeck, R.Holmes, P.Isola, M.Bufkin, S.Lewerenz, P.Singer, R.Berdie, A.Sher. (2) Pat Bailey, Portraying Irishman Mr. Dooley, gives his speech "The Food That We Eat." (3) Mr. Minwegen gives a speech member some last minute tips for an important meet the next day.

ARGUING PUTS DEBATERS 4TH IN REGIONALS

■ Maybe I took debate for the thrill of getting up at 1:00 on a Saturday morning. Or traveling 200 miles in a car stuffed with four people. Or getting stuck out of town every Friday night...

—BERNIE O'BRIEN

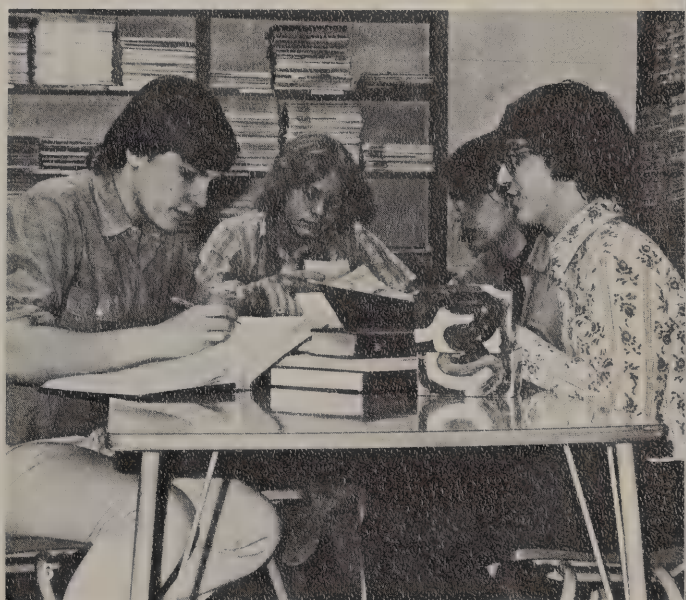

■ I learned about organized argument and how not to make dumb generalizations.—JON STORMS

■ It's frustrating when you're losing because you know you are doing something wrong, and if you could figure out what, you would be winning.—SARAH LEWERENZ

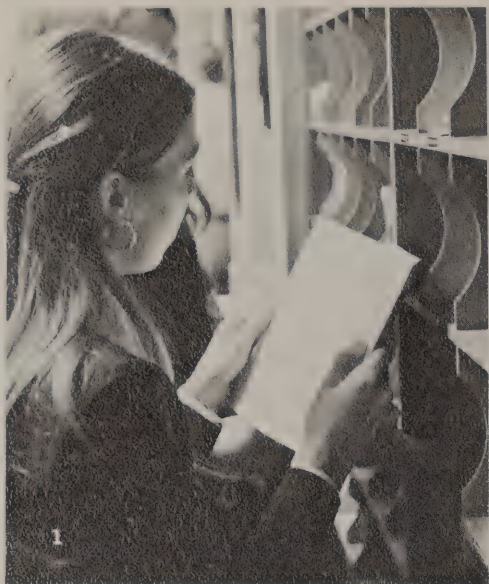

■ I took debate because you learn the power of persuasion—a sexy smile to the judge...—ROBIN HOLMES

■ You don't know if you're going to win or lose. You can make a wild guess, and if it doesn't look promising, you can always write obscenities in your flow chart.—DEBBIE JOHNSON

■ I took debate to help me form my own opinions and to be more objective. I have so far succeeded in being more objective.—JEN KRELMAN

(1) Debaters Sarah Lewerenz, Debbie Johnson, Bernie O'Brien, Marsha Brown and Brad Swenson research extensively in the magazine room. (2) Paul Zalasky and Robin Holmes plan their presentation. (3) Wayne Brownell shows an interesting fact to Kris Wegerson. (4) Coach Eric Peterson listens skeptically to a practice round. (5) Barb Boekhoff recalls an adventure from an overnight trip. VOLUNTEERS HELP FRIENDS POP, FILE CARDS, BUILD SETS

■ Being the stage manager for five years has been a constant challenge for me. I've learned how to lead people, and I've learned technical aspects about sound, lighting, and how to design and build sets.—DAVE WALTERS

■ The experience of being an office cadet will prove valuable if I go into office work: besides, Mrs. Johnson makes good pies.—SUE BOWMAN

■ I'm an A-V cadet because it's the only good way to be destructive under the nose of the faculty ... (offices in Rough and Ready, Deadwood, San Francisco, and planning for further advancements.)—TERRY WELLS (FARGO)

■ I wanted to be a P.A. announcer because I wanted to give the news over the P.A. to the students, and I wanted to become more involved with the school.—HEIDI FEIG

■ I never get bored being a library cadet, there's always something to do ... I like to file cards in the card catalog.—SUE WILLIAMSON

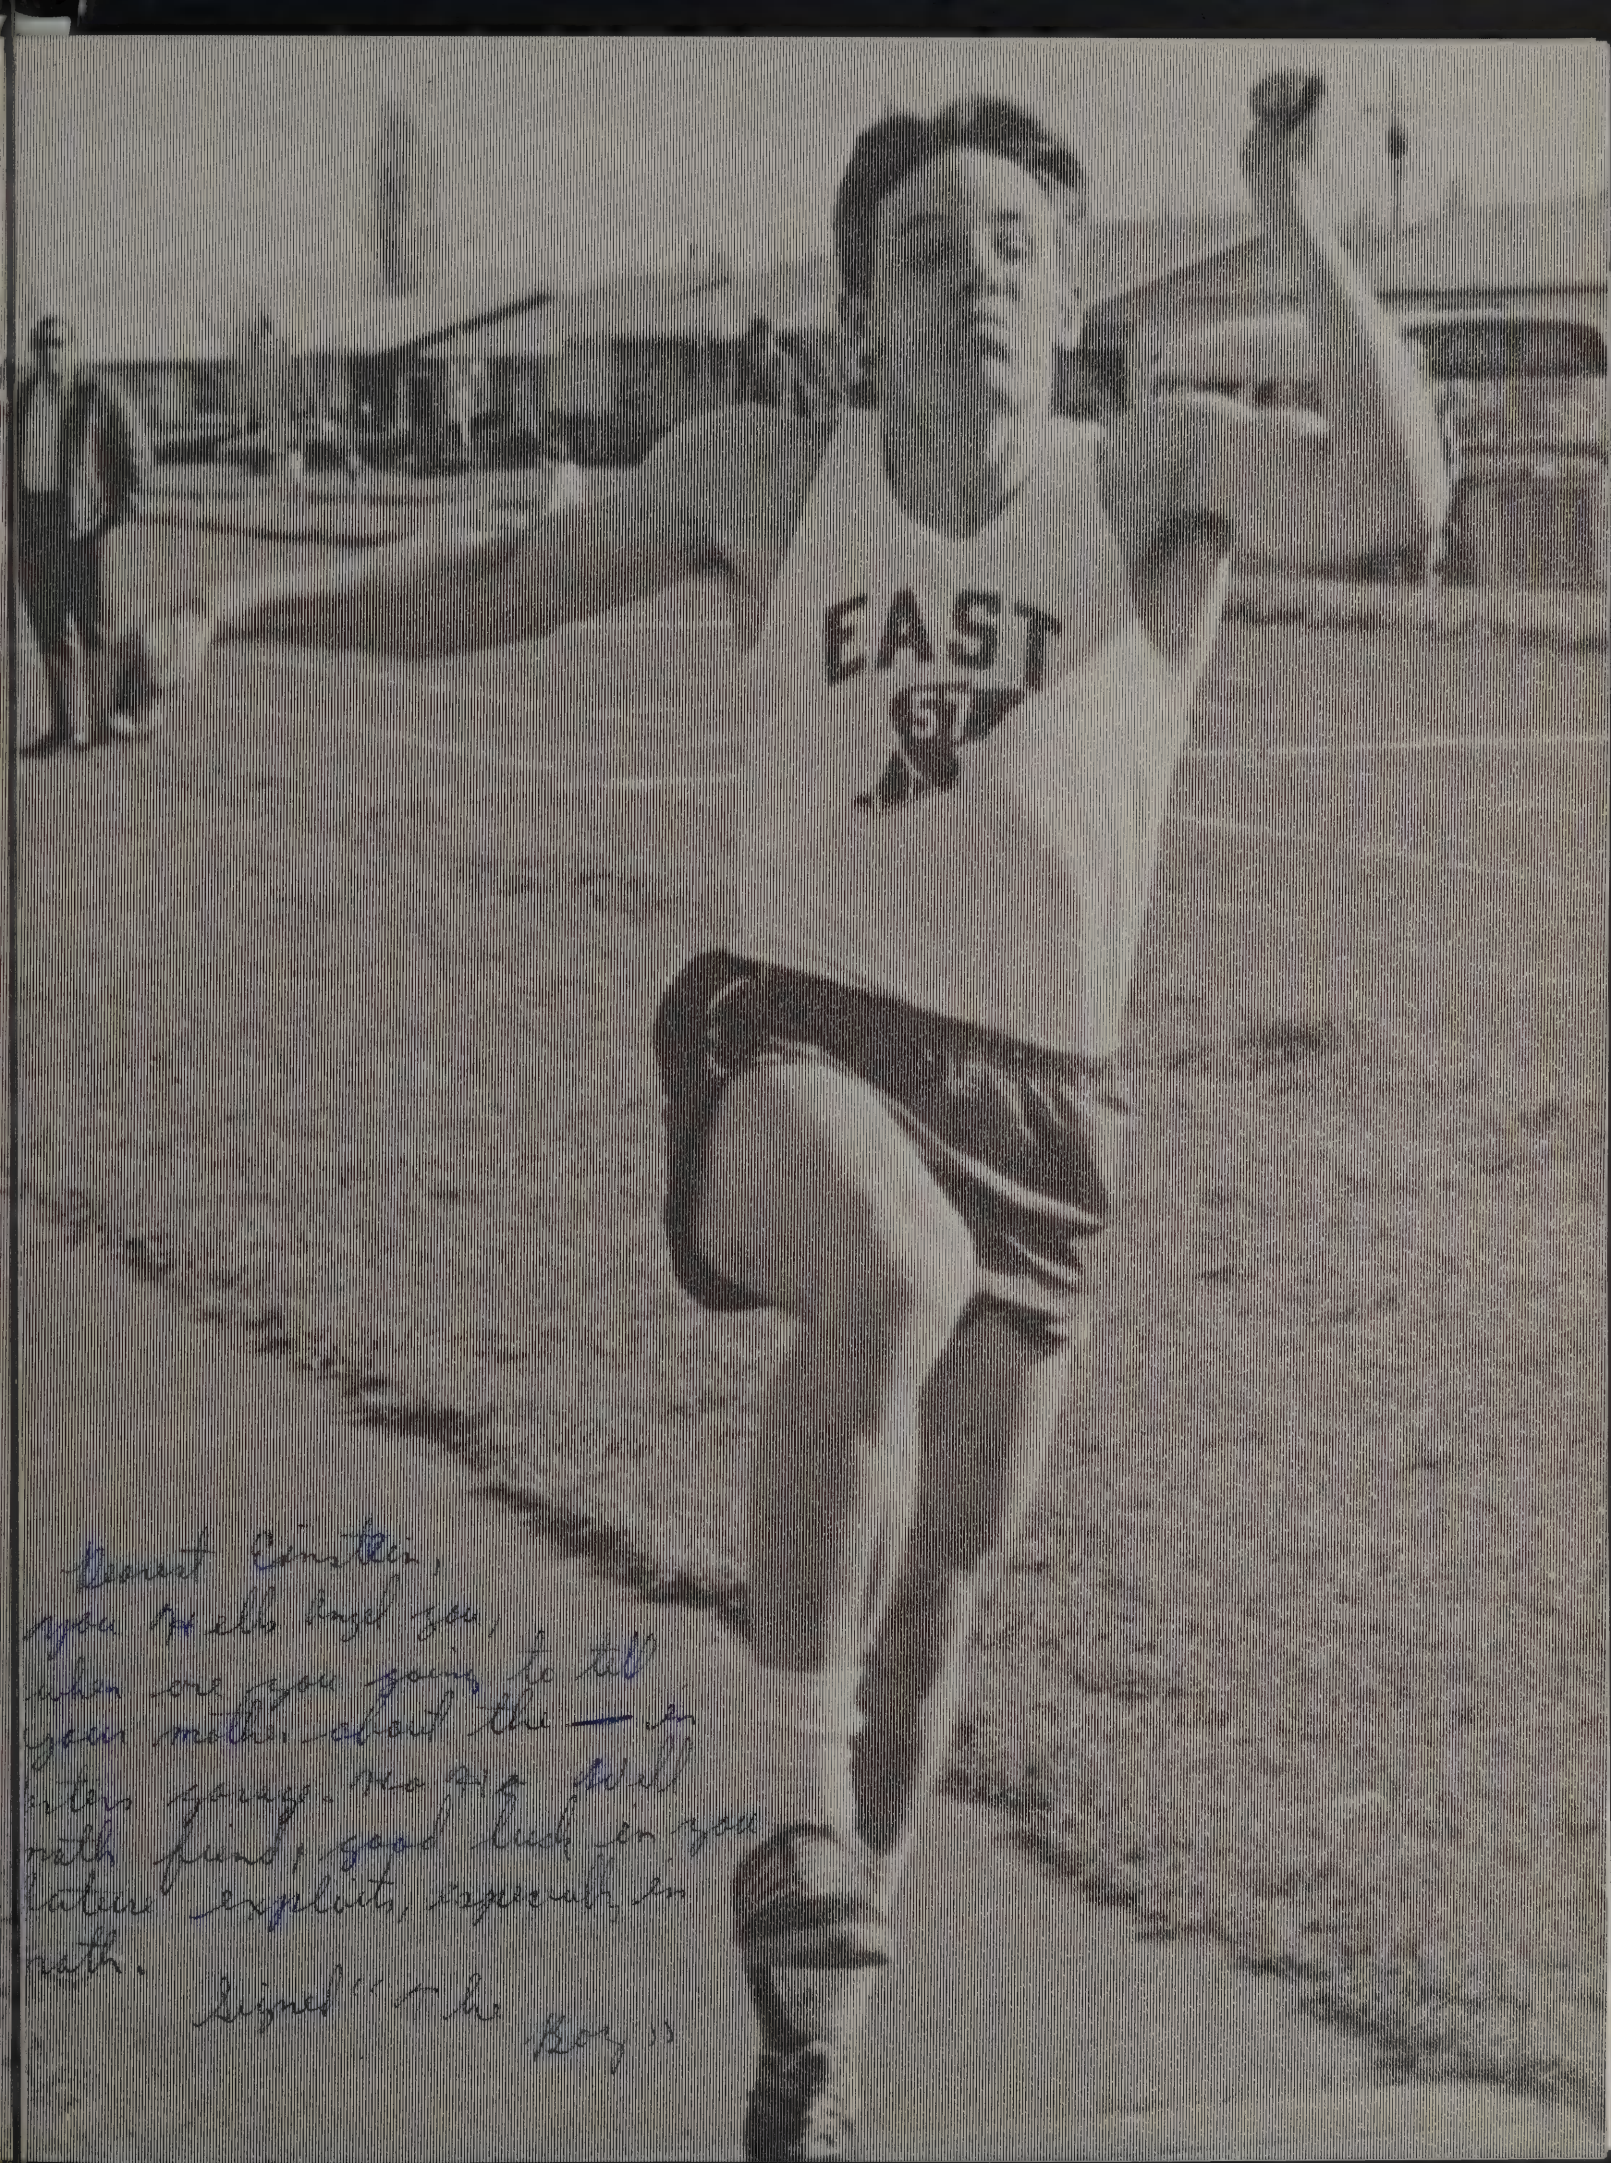

■ I decided to become a popcorn popper when I walked by the window one day and a friend of mine was popping popcorn. She needed help and I started to assist her, and found myself regularly popping popcorn after school. —JANN OSTERLAND

"FOOTBALL-CRAZY" HOUNDS FINISH WITH 6 SHUTOUTS

■ I REALLY like playing football. A lot of people think it's crude and violent, but I like the competition and the contact. There's a certain closeness among the players this year. It's funny because before the season began, only the members of the team thought we'd be good this year, and then we won the city championship.—JIM BYE

■ When I first went out for football as a sophomore, I was really "gung-ho", but a little scared. Now I realize that the coach is human, too, and that has made it a lot easier.—SCOTT CHAPMAN

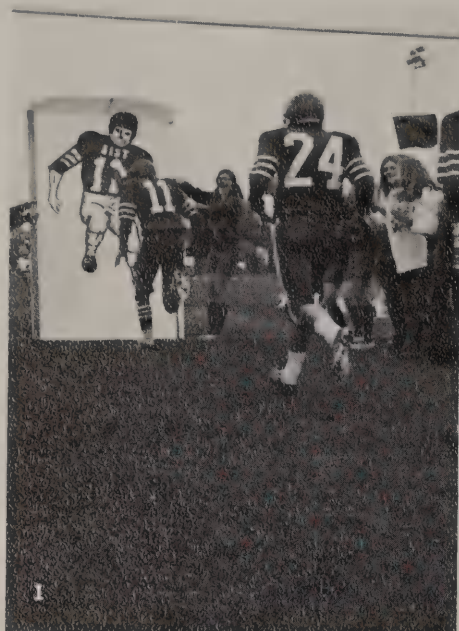

■ My favorite game was against Denfeld because in that contest especially, everybody was backing everybody; it was a true team effort...Football is so personal I can't share it with anyone. I can't get fired up with the rest of the team. It's all within me.—DALE SELLNER

■ I think the general team attitude was the most important factor of our success, with the seniors leading the juniors and sophomores in really liking the game of football. I think this attitude spread to much of the student body, and the tremendous support of the student body and faculty led the team on.—JOE MRKONICH

MCM, MISFITS RANK FIRST IN INTRAMURAL GRID

■ The competition was pretty good, but at times it got pretty rough. The best thing about intramural football was that the kids who participated were extremes; some were athletes, but some were like the parking lot gang. It was good to see girls get involved; they seemed to enjoy it, but they don't compare to the boys.—RICK KETCHAM

■ I think football is a boys' sport; girls get too emotional. We never got to play because everyone was so gosh darn picky.—SUE SWANSTROM

■ My team, the Misfits, had some rough competition because we were the best team; nobody likes a winner.—RICK ENRICO

■ Playing with all the girls and getting to know the kids on the other teams is the reason why I enjoyed participating in the girls' intramural football league.—BETSY RUNQUIST

■ I enjoyed playing because everyone was out for a good time. There was a competitive spirit, but most of the games were played on a friendly basis.—KEVIN GRIFFIN

■ I like that body contact...—CATHY SINK

CROSS COUNTRY PLACED 1ST IN REGIONALS, 7TH IN STATE

■ Cross country is a means of expression. They don't yell their guts out at assemblies, but they run their back ends off at the races.—TERRY WELLS

■ I love running. It relieves the tensions and anxiety that build up. I can run and I forget everything else.—KIM GRYTDAHL

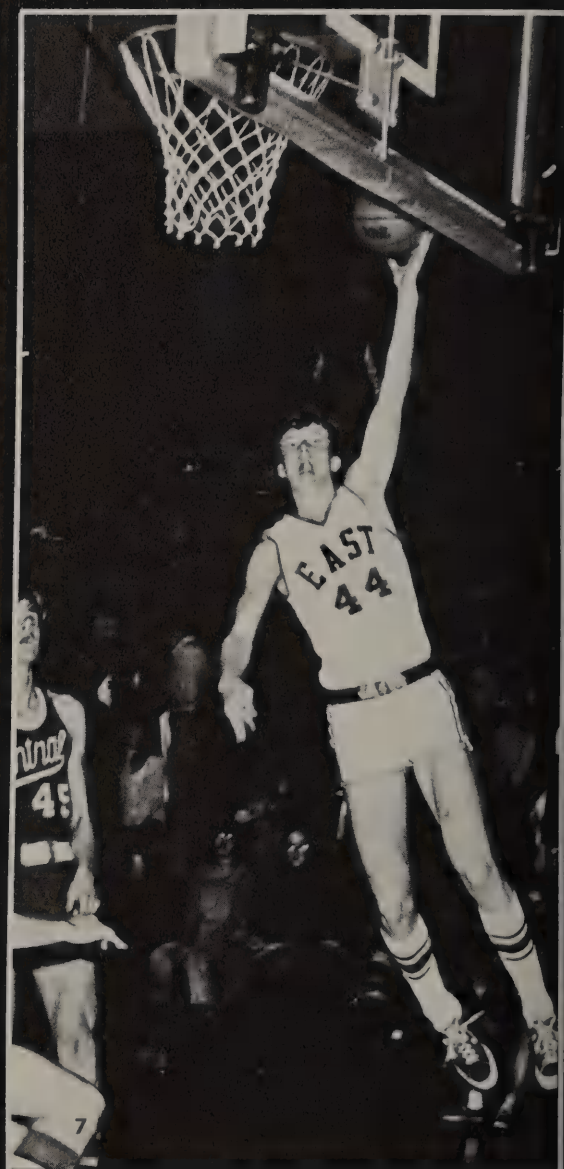

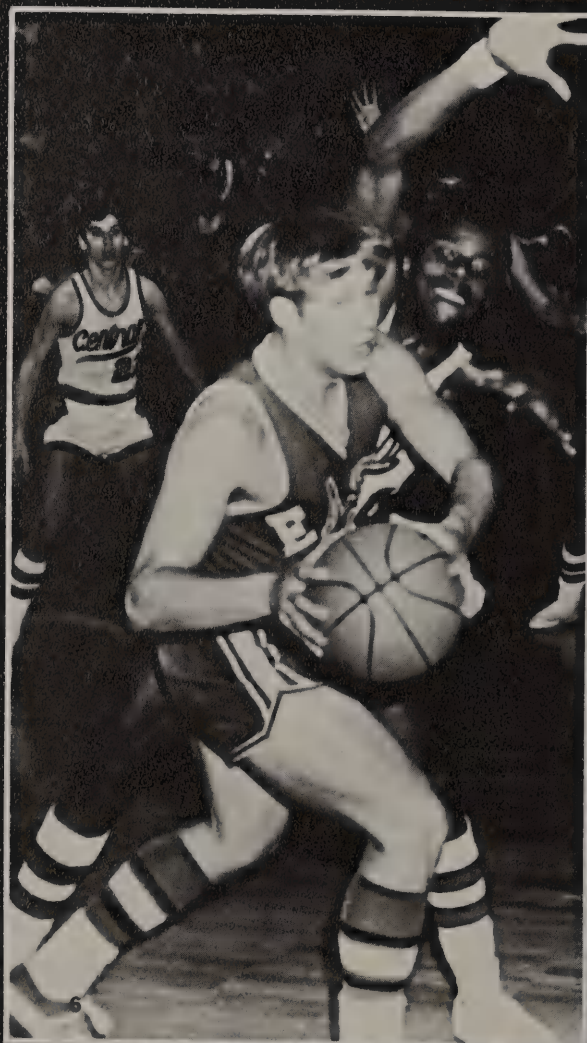

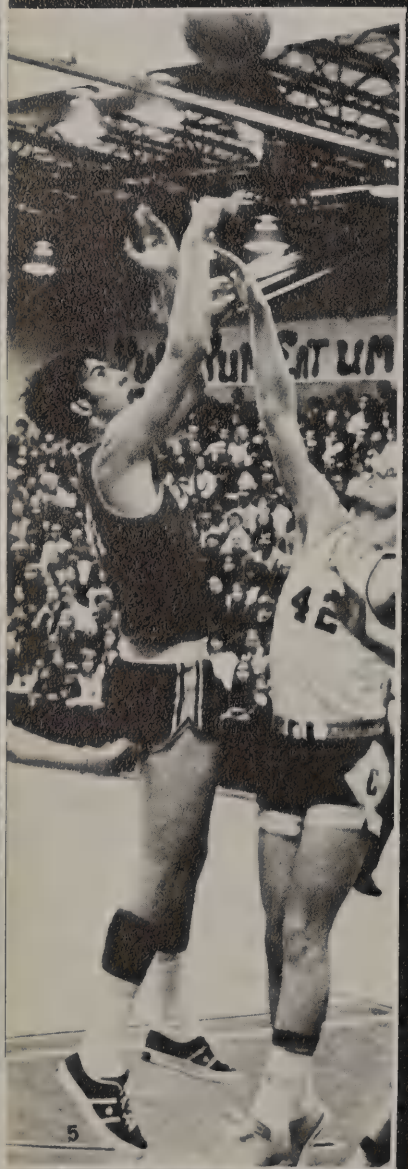

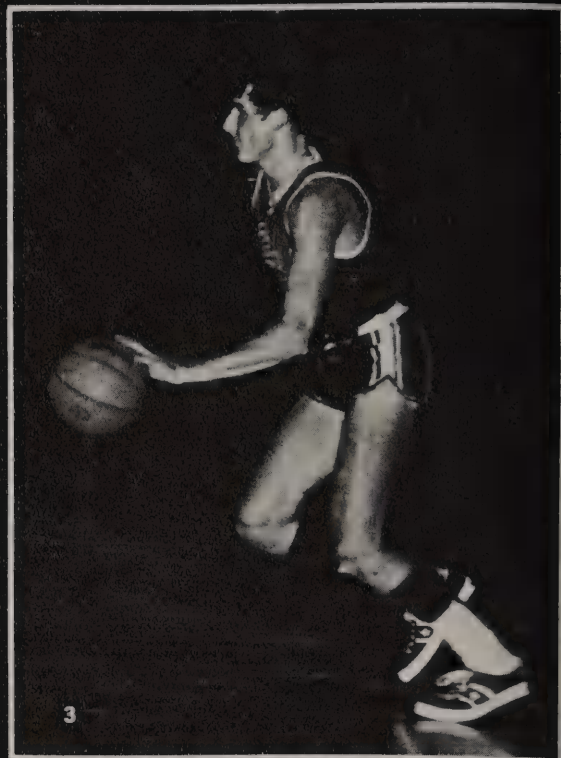

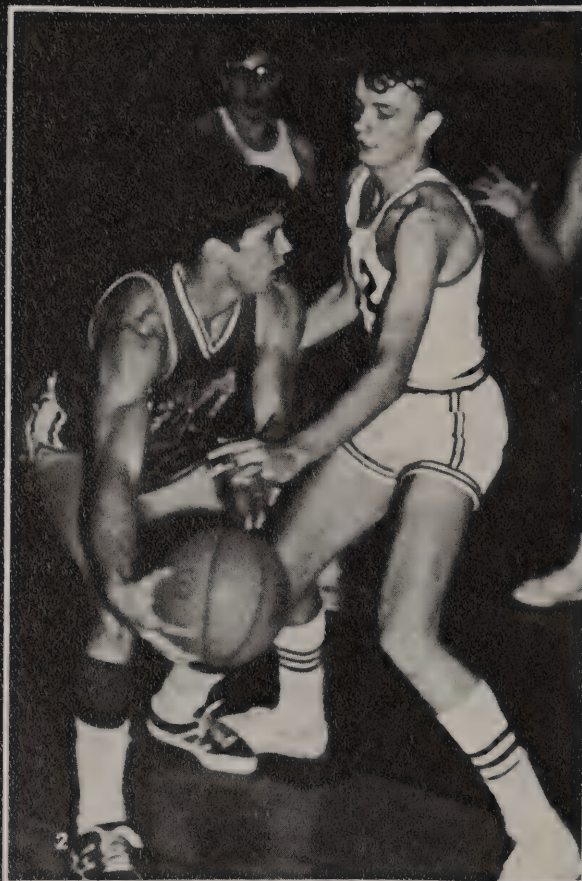

■ ...there is no real way to psyche yourself up for a race. If it's there, you have it, and if it's not, then there's nothing you can do.—DAVE R. JONES

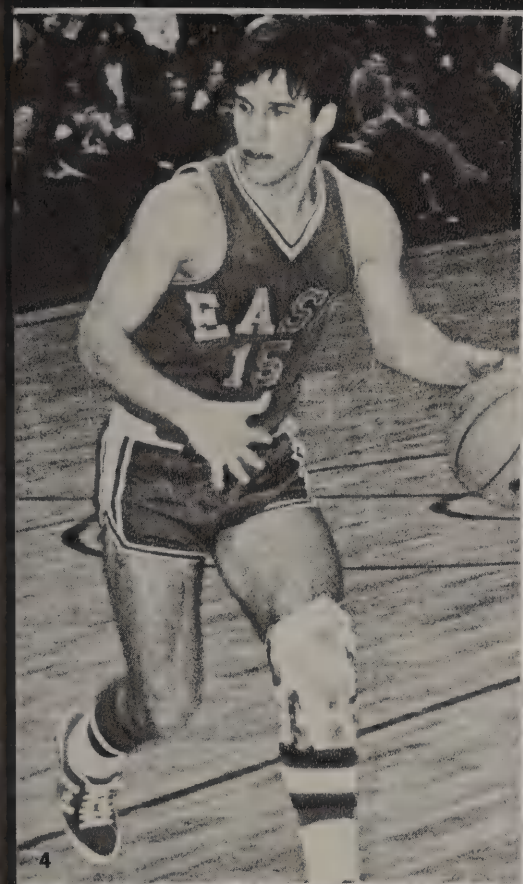

■ It's the team effort that does it. It keeps you going. Everyone worked for the team this year.—BILL FAYLING

■ Closeness...describes cross country this year...I guess you could call it love for each other. Knowing that your teammates are trying their hardest for the team produced a united effort by everyone to do their best...The goal of any team is to be No. 1, but our goal was to be good and have fun doing it. We won some trophies—we don't remember them as wins, but as memories of good times we had with each other.—MARK ISACKSON

(1-2) Co-captains (1) Mark Isackson and (2) Dave Jones strive to keep a steady pace during the Swain Invitational. (3-7) Varsity runners (3) Tyler Carlson, (4) Mark Nordman, (5) Howie Jacobs, (6) Jim Plaunt, and (7) Steve Allen show some of the great pleasure and agony that the C.C. men go through during a tight race. (8) Steve Allen and Tom Griffith (far left and right) strain to take over the pack leader. (9) Kim Grytdahl and a friend take a well deserved rest before they continue practicing.

HOUND CAGERS "COULDN'T HELP PLAYING WELL"

■ I think the thing that has really helped the team this year is that we (Loren, Roger, and I) have played in tournaments before, so we will have an advantage over some of the other teams.—MARK LINDAHL

■ Before the Edina game, it seemed as though we were just going through the motions. We couldn't get fired up over anyone because no one seemed to be a challenge anymore.—ROGER OBERG

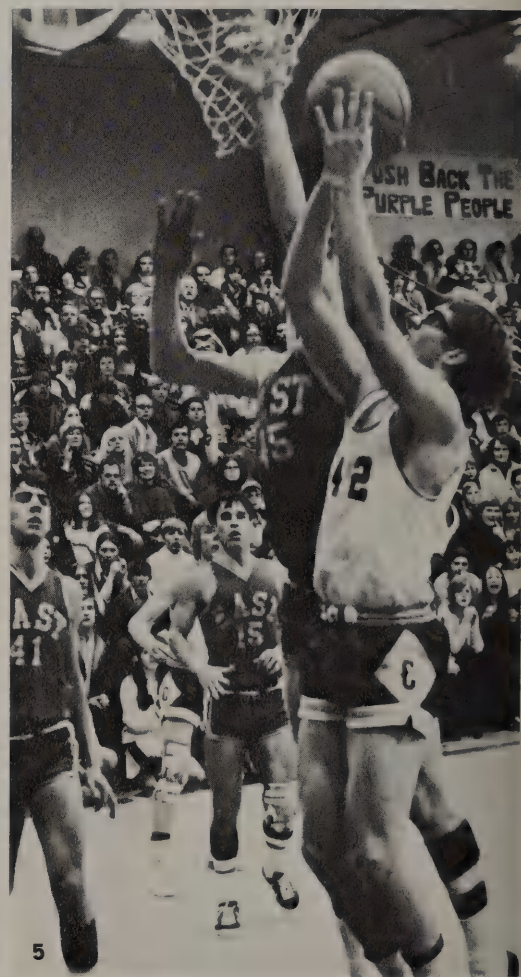

■ The only thing that holds the team together is the desire to reach the same goal, because there are many team members who don't like each other. . . . When we were down at Edina, we locked one of the team members in a roll-away bed in his underwear with only his head and feet sticking out. Then we sent him up and down the elevator.—TOM HAMILTON

■ Sometimes we see the posters the kids have in the audience, but usually not. We're not supposed to notice, but we do.—JOE BERINI JR.

■ School spirit really does affect the team. During the Grand Rapids game, for instance, the crowd was so fired up that we couldn't help playing well. . . . I get scared sometimes on the bench because I'm always afraid that someone will foul out and I'll have to go in. I didn't think so much about it in the Grand Rapids game, but I did in the Edina game because it was close and the pressure was on. My best game was against Grand Rapids because I got to play.—KIM "BLACK-DUCK" ANDERSON

(1) Co-Captain Roger Oberg bounds ahead of his pursuers. (2) Jim Bye reaches around Silver Bay. (3) Denny Lund dashes down court by himself. (4) Mark Mrkonich maneuvers the ball. (5) Loren Anderson tips over Cloquet. (6) Tom Hamilton pivots past Central. (7) Co-Captain Mark Lindahl ignores Newton's Law of Gravity. (8) Jim and Mark fight to keep the ball as Roger stands by to assist.

(1) Coach St. John chews out the ref as the rest of the Greyhounds watch in anticipation of flying words. (2) Kim Anderson avoids a block to take a short shot. (3) Senior guard Jim Bye out-maneuvers a Silver Bay player to score a layup. (4) Bob Lund sprawls after making a basket. (5) Loren Anderson and Marko Mrkonich watch Mark Lindahl block a shot in the overtime against Cloquet. (6) VARSITY BASKETBALL: Row 1- Joe Berini, Irv St. John, Sherm Moe. Row 2- J.Pulford, J.Berini, D.Garon, M.Mrkonich, K.Anderson, R.Oberg, B. Lund, M.Lindahl, L.Anderson, D.Lund, D.Epstein, T.Hamilton, J.Bye, J.Bittner.

■ If I don't make the "A" squad, I won't have wasted my time because there's always college or pro-basketball to think about; and I'll keep on practicing.—PAT LUND

■ I've gained the satisfaction of playing on a winning team and of doing something for East by being on the "B" squad.—STEVE DAVIDSON

■ I am only a 9th grader, but with a little work I don't think I'll have any trouble making the "A" squad.—ROY SHEPARD

■ I think that playing together with the other guys this year has helped me to learn to work with them.—STEVE HIGH

■ I don't think about the competition, but rather to improve my shooting, and if I work hard enough I hope to be playing next year on the "A" squad.—JIM SMITH

■ The closeness of the members is what made it so much fun to be a member of the swimming team. Music is played before each meet, and this helps the team get ready. It also gets the crowd really excited.—GREG OWENS

■ We have lots of team spirit which makes being on the swimming team fun. Cloquet and Two Harbors are our main contenders in the conference, but we're the best.—JOHN JACOBSON

■ There's a great bunch of people on the swimming team. Mr. Lee makes most of the spirit on the team. He's not only a good coach, but also the type of guy you really enjoy knowing.—TIM O'CONNOR

■ The other guys really keep you going on the team, and this makes swimming fun. I just wish that we could get more people at the meets.—ROCHE LALLY

CURLING:

"WE HAVE THE POTENTIAL TO GO" TO STATE

■ Curling has been at East for four years now, but it's still a relatively new program. It is growing in popularity, though. We've got the best team spirit that the curling team has ever had.—JIM BRADSHAW

■ I think that we can do better than last year's fifth place finish in the state tournament ... I had never heard about curling until a friend told me about it.—MIKE STEELE

■ Most of the tough teams come from the Range ... The state tournament is in Duluth, and we have the potential to go all the way. Bruce Roberts is our coach, and he has represented the United States in world competition.—MARK ANKARLO

(1) Curling Team- Lee Anderson, Mike Steele, Jim Bradshaw, Mark Ankarlo. (2) Jim Bradshaw, waiting for the rock to be thrown, motions with broom where it should be aimed. (3) As Captain Jim throws the rock, Mike, Mark and Lee make a clean sweep of their opponents. (4) Jim and Mark go into action when Lee lets go of the rock during the curling bonspiel.

PUCKSTERS "KNEW WE COULD PLAY WITH ANYBODY"

■ Central was favored to win the city championship, but we came through and did it!—BUDDY JOHNSON

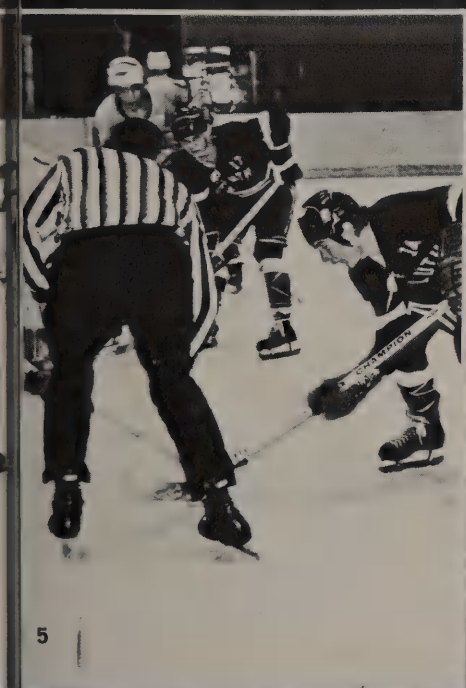

■ If we could go back and play a game over, I wish it could be the Virginia game. Everyone thought we would choke up. Virginia had the power behind them. It wasn't our playing. By the end of the third period, they could have beaten anyone in the state. If we could have stayed out of the penalty box, we would have been better off. The Eveleth game was our best one because everything was put together. It felt good to knock off a team rated the top in the state, and the fact that it was a range team made it even better.—MARK STEVENS

■ Nobody thought we'd be any good because of our inexperience. There was no depth. When we beat Eveleth and South St. Paul, we knew we could play with anybody. Those games gave us confidence. The seniors enjoyed their best year. Some of the players found it hard switching from football to hockey, though. Cohesiveness of the team contributed to our success. The victories that I savor most were over Superior and Cathedral when we avenged our losses. The seniors never lost to Central in their three years at East, so that was why I enjoyed beating them.—BOB MARS

■ After the Virginia game, I tried to commit suicide by jumping off the balcony, but two Arena redcoats grabbed me and held me down. Oh! I wish they'd have let me go!—JIM REID

SKI TEAM RACES TO 5TH PLACE IN STATE MEET

■ I joined the ski team because I wasn't good enough for the Olympics and this was the next best thing.—DICK MACNALLY

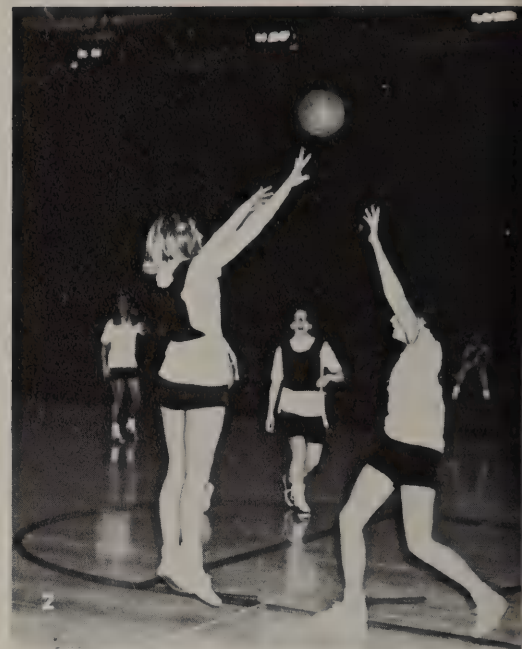

■ I can't understand why the team can't get an activity bus to use to get to the meets. I don't mind so much, except for the times when Mr. Magney approaches a stop sign. I sure pity the person who sits in front of the cross country skis and poles.—MARTY FOX

(1) SLALOM TEAM: J. Streitz, D. MacNally, M. Fox, S. Hoffman, J. Rennan, B. Swenson, Mr. Magney. (2) Dick MacNally hunches over, determined to get to the bottom before the hill does. (3) John Streitz pauses a moment to disentangle his ski pole. (4) "Oh, my God. I've left my boots at home." (Rod Grozdanich) (5) John Streitz rides the rail at Mont du Lac, reflecting on the prospects of a first place at the state meet. (6) Rick Ketcham fights against being eaten by a mogul.

(1-3) Mike Monson in sequence. (4) Rod Grozdanich snow-shoes through his race. (5) SKI JUMPERS: P.Johnson, M.Monson. (6) CROSS COUNTRY TEAM: R.Grozdanich, J.Wheeler, L.Ahlgren, L.Goodman, D.Deetz, D.Uttley, Mr. Magney. Missing: T.Carson. (7) Tyler pushes himself off the edge. (8) Dan Uttley passes by the crowd as if they were standing still.

(1) BASKETBALL TEAM: Row 1- M.Kenner, J. Prudhomme, A.Gagne, J.Osterland, B.Allen, M.Nides, J.Connor. Row 2- L.Ronstrom, K.Nordman, K.Hill, S.Kochevar, S.Stromquist, J.Sorenson. Row 3- Mrs. Maeckelbergh. (2) Jana Sorenson is far out on the court: (3) Jana leaps to tip the ball to awaiting teammates. (4) Kirby Hill outpositions a Cathedral player to take a shot. (5) SWIM TEAM: Row 1- L.Johnson, L.McGregor, L.Docter, D.Arseneau, K.Bailey, M.Pittman, L.Hinzann, Row 2- B.Grobe, D.Emanuel, S.Gjerstad, M.Goodnow, K.Wangensteen, B.Persen, B.Schimd.

GIRLS' SPORTS ADD BASKETBALL, NEW COACHES TO LIST

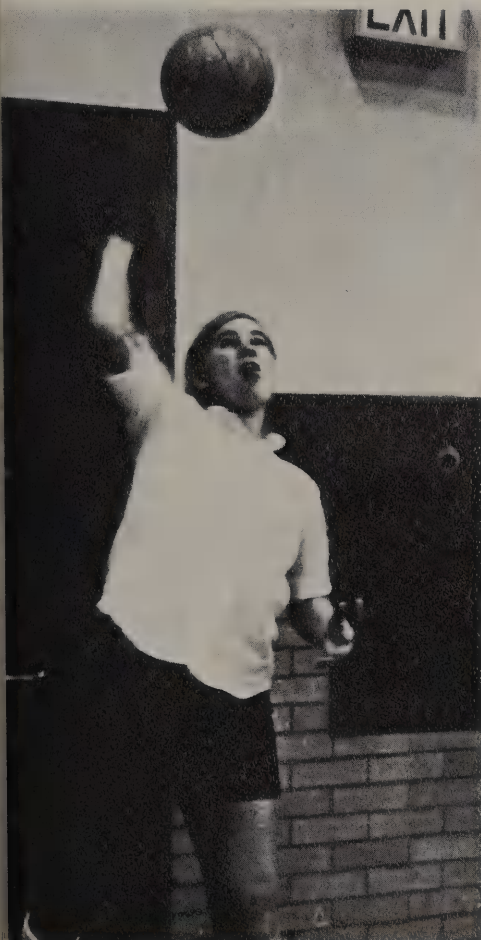

■ I made some new friends and got to know some of my old friends in a different way by participating in girls' sports. I'd like to see a yoga group started.—LYNN HINZMANN

■ The coaches were excellent! They're a barrel of monkeys and should go pro.—BECKY ALLEN

■ I'm participating in curling because I think it's a good competitive sport and I wanted to get more girls interested in it.—CATHY ENSIGN

■ I don't know if many of the kids would go for this, but it would be neat to have a club of kids who ride or are interested in horses.—BARB SCHMID

■ When activities are co-ed, the girls don't do their best. They're more self-conscious. — BONNEY GROBE

(1) VOLLEYBALL TEAM: Row 1- P.Monson, J.Bradley, J.O'Connor, B.Grobe, J.Osterland, Row 2-Mrs. Maeckelbergh, J.Sorenson, D.Olson, S.Kochevar, K.Hill, J.Mattei. (2) Dorothy Olson wallops one as the opposing team awaits nervously. (3) GOLF TEAM: Myra Kenner, Jann Osterland, Barb Laskin, Sue Kochevar.

MISFITS TOPS IN LEAGUE INTRAMURAL VOLLEYBALL

■ Volleyball is a good way for many different kids to get together and have a great time.—SENIOR GIRL

■ Volleyball was fun because it was co-ed.—DON HOAG

■ Volleyball is fun because you get to know a lot of people, and it's good that there's finally a sport that boys and girls can play together.—JOANN VAN PUymbROUCK

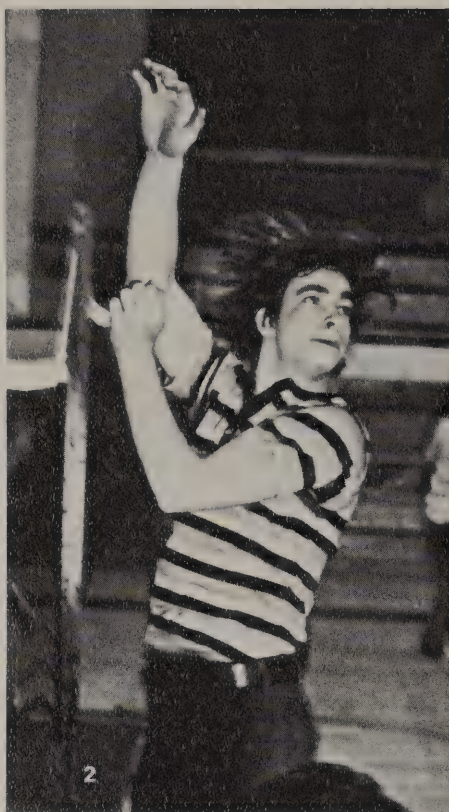

■ It's fun to play, and I like to get out and participate. On our team, the girls are really good, but not as good as the boys. It's fun to have so much team spirit.—LINDA

REICH

■ Volleyball is a good chance to get together with other kids, and it's an activity that really adds something fun to school life.—DAVE HOUGLUM

■ I like volleyball because it's fun to beat on the ball.—JON KNUDSON

■ Getting together with everyone, both boys and girls, makes volleyball so much fun. It's not like in gym classes because the teams are mixed, and this makes it better. Everyone's really friendly and you see the kids in a different light than in classes.—JO PICCONATTO

(1) Robin Jamar, enraged in a fit of temper, tosses her teammate over the net. (2) In a surge of excitement after scoring the winning point, Bob Operpriller flips into a Watusi spin. (3) An aspiring Quick Draw McGraw fires the ball with lightning speed, but watches as his shot descends to the net with a sonic boom.

INTRAMURAL BROOMBALL SWEEPS THIRTY TEAMS

■ It's lots of fun playing with a group of girls who know as little about broomball as I do. I don't care too much if we play teams that are overly aggressive, and I'd rather get to play than win by forfeit, which has happened two or three times. Sometimes there's enough cooperation within my team that we manage to make a few passes and score some goals.—MARGIE NIDES

■ Broomball is a great idea because you don't need any special talent, and it gets kids who aren't involved in school teams to take part in sports.—SUE HAMMEL

■ There should be referees because there is so much fighting and not enough rules.—PAT GORDON

■ Broomball is simply and plainly a riot. It gives me a chance to raise a little noise and get everything out of my system, and still have a heck of a time.—MIKE WITZIG

■ Since girls' broomball has just recently been organized at East, I thought it was successful because we had twenty teams participating. I really enjoyed broomball and felt it was a good experience in learning how to conduct yourself in a sportsmanlike manner.—NANCY SANDERS

JUNIORS— "... ABILITY TO MAKE LASTING IMPRESSIONS ..."

■ We are not much different from other Junior classes. We have the kids who monopolize our class by obtaining offices year after year. We have the kids who don't participate at all. We have the jocks, the longhairs, and the beer freaks. We have a few major groups that are now beginning to merge.—COLLEEN ABERNETHY

■ We are starting to learn many responsibilities, yet we do not have all the pressures of the adult world.—DON GARON

■ The Junior class is 75% cool hard creeps.—RORIE MUNKWITZ

■ You're used to East by Junior year, but still have another year before you become a "sophisticate."—CHRIS BUSSE

■ Our class is the best to come out of East, but that's only because a small percentage of the kids in our class do all the work; the rest sit back. But come graduation, they will take the credit for making our class so terrific.—SENIOR BOY

Once upon a time, in the enchanted kingdom of East High, the beautiful princess Debbie of Bennett, a young lady who was changed from a senior class treasurer to a princess when she mistakenly kissed a frog, found herself trying to defend her lover, Sir David of Amundson, a gentleman who once played the role of vice-president of the senior class, from her step-sister, Paula Schultz, who inherited the position of secretary of the senior class and had been placed under a spell of jealousy by an evil sorcerer, the president of the senior class, Jeff Sund, who got his heart's desire to be a wizard when he fell into a magic wishing well one day.

plishment. I like to be in charge of things because it gives me a feeling of doing something. But I wish everyone wasn't so pathetic.—PAULA SCHULTZ, Secretary

■ Being the vice-president has given me a better chance to get through to the teachers a little more than if I were just a student.

That's an advantage. But really it's just a name. I have no power.—DAVE AMUNDSON, Vice-President

■ It's a drag because I can't get the kids together. There's no one backing me. I can't do anything without them behind me.—JEFF SUND, President

SENIORS SUFFER SCHIZO SIGNS OF SENIORITIS

■ I can't. I'm sitting here and all I can do is giggle. Ed. is going bananas, and I'm supposed to be typing on Senioritis so we can get the pages sent off tonight. But I think I'm suffering from that dread disease (and really, I think I've had it since junior year), and

I can't get going ... Giggle ... Giggle ... la la la ... la la la la ... coldest weather in fourteen years ... la la la ... Hmm, I'm of the opinion that one can only contract Senioritis if one isn't by himself. It's much more fun with two. Or three, I s'pose, would work well. Come to think of it, four wouldn't be bad either ... I hope Mark and Mary wander in. Now there's a couple kids it wouldn't be hard to be sick with Senioritis with ... Giggle. Oh, well. If your friends don't understand about being silly now and then, who will? Friends ... And not to be a friend with someone ... I s'pose that would make a person disinterested in school, too ... Do you realize I have a ton of homework that I have to get done before six tomorrow morning? I have a feeling it won't be done until six tomorrow morning ... Hmm, my eggs had crust on them this morning ... And if you think that was bad, you should've seen the orange juice ...

SENIORS "FEEL PRESSURED TO GET GOOD GRADES"

■ Naturally, I feel pressured to get good grades, that's what the colleges look at, but I don't think the pressure is so great that I have to cheat. I hope by now that I have some dignity and self-control.—LISA O'MELIA

■ I'm not pressured for good grades because I'm not planning on going to college and never have.—VICKIE WITCHALL

■ I feel that I own it to my God, country, and myself to get good grades — Honestly.—DOROTHY OLSON

■ I do feel pressured, but from my parents mostly. Yes, I have cheated.—SENIOR BOY

■ Yes! I definitely feel pressured into cheating to get good grades. Grades are so all-important to colleges. The grade point average is the one thing that colleges look at, so the only way that a person can keep up with all the work is to collaborate on tests. Even though I know it's wrong, it's also quite amusing to try to get answers during a test and to watch others doing the same. 1972—FIRST YEAR OF VOTE FOR 18-YEAR OLDS

■ I will most likely be more involved in politics now that 18-year olds can vote. I know I don't know enough about the government, and I will take the responsibility to learn more about it.—CHER-INNE HANSON

■ I wish I didn't have to vote because I don't feel that I really know enough about what's going on to make a wise decision.—KAREN SOUTHWORTH

■ I'm not any more involved in politics now than when I wasn't 18. I don't know much about today's government, but I'm so mixed up from listening to the adults squabble that I don't know what to do.—SUSAN WILLIAMSON

■ I'd like to be sure my choice is my own and not parentally influenced. This might be a problem for many 18-year olds since they will still be living at home.—TENBY OWENS

■ Politics is too big of a machine, too complicated and frustrating for me to take on. I wonder if I'm apathetic or just a forthcoming member of the silent majority. Politics scare me.—CLAUDIA FRANK

■ I have been involved in politics in the past, and I will be involved in the future because I realize that voting is the most important right that I possess.—JIM REID

STATEMENTS FROM STATERS

■ It was fun meeting kids from around the state and exchanging political views ... We learned the importance of the individual getting involved.—DAVE JONES

HALL OF FAME INTEREST FADING INTO OBLIVION

■ I counted the Hall of Fame, and it was a huge farce. About six or seven monopolized the votes for every category. Out of a class of 500, not more than 100 voted, and some people won their titles with only six votes.—MELANIE PATTON

■ I really miss seeing the pictures of the Hall of Fame kids in the yearbook.—LISA HOCH

■ In this day of individuality, the last thing we need is stereo-typing and pigeon-holing.—PAM NEWSOME

■ ... I think it's unrealistic and out-dated. If you want to have a Hall of Fame, it's okey with me, but I won't be a part of labeling.—NANCY NIERENGARTEN

"USUAL" GOALS INCLUDE MAKING KITES, OLYMPICS

■ My No. 1 goal in life is to build my kite and fly off Gooseberry Falls.—DAN SCHOBBER

■ My goal is to make money, money, money.—EARL SULLIVAN

■ My goal in life is not to get rich or love status, but only to love a good husband, a good home, and a good family.—DONNA ELLEFSON

■ My goals are the usual — make enough money to take it easy in my later years. Only thing is, I'm taking it easy now, so that's kind of goofy.—DON HOAG

■ I want to finish college, make the Olympics, and get married.—TERRY KERN

■ I have no desire to be rich and famous (just comfortable); no immediate plans to be married (just have a friend); no inspirations for a career (a few hobbies); and no picture view of how I will be in the years to come. All I want is to love, be loved, and have laughter pop up throughout.—CLAUDIA FRANK

SOME DEFINITE, OTHERS NOT ON FUTURE PLANS

■ I plan to travel and possibly go out West. I'd really like to become a ski bum in the mountains, but I don't want a career this early in life. I want to be free to do my thing for several years before I pick a profession.—RICK KETCHAM

■ How can I tell now what I'll be happy doing the rest of my life? It seems like every time I turn around I find something new to interest me.—TENBY OWENS

■ My plans for the future are college, then marriage. Why? Because I love him.—LISA HOCH

■ If I can get my guy to wait, I'm going to go to college to try to make something of myself.—PAT NIEMI

■ I don't plan on getting married until I have a career set up and I can support a family.—JOHN OGARD

■ I definitely feel that my career will come before marriage, but it won't interfere with my marriage.—PAULA SCHULTZ

■ Hell no, I ain't goin' to no college. In the future I plan to get drunk for a week at a time an' sing the blues. I'll do this 'cause that's what I do best.—SCOTT SPELLERBERG

■ After high school I plan on entering a nursing school and become an RN. I have always been interested in medicine and science and would like very much to help people.—JULIE MATTEI

■ I'm planning on college ... because it's the thing to do. Not really, but I guess it's because I really want to. I have a hunger for knowledge that I can satisfy in no other way. There are many people who feel that planning a career is unimportant for a girl that it's unimportant for a girl to get an education. That really bugs the hell out of me because I think it's all important.—SUE KOCHVAR

■ I plan on going into medicine at UMD and the main U. in Minneapolis. My goal in life is to become a surgeon.—DON ESSE

■ I am thinking very strongly of enlisting in Marine Aviation because of all the occupational opportunities.—CHUCK LINNERUD

■ I want to join the Peace Corps, but if I don't make it I will go to beauty school.—MARLEEN SAARI

■ I am not looking for a career job!! Just something until I find what I'm looking for.—JUDY KOSMERL

SENIORS IMPART ADVICE ON LIVING BEFORE LEAVING

■ You should get more out of school than an education.—DON WICKLUND

■ There shouldn't be any stereotyping. There are so many kids who don't fit in a particular group. Everyone should be a group in himself.—BARB HANSON

■ ... live in the present and not in the future or the past ... learn from the past, but don't feel "sick" over it.—BETH GROBE

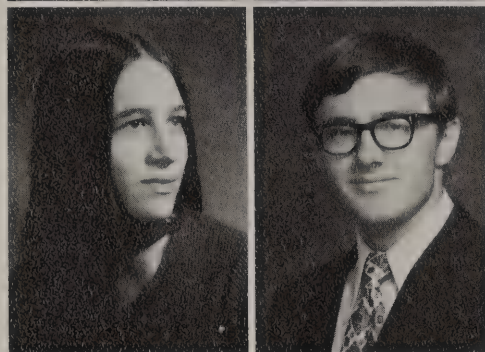

■ If we could learn how to live and accept one another, we'd be readier to face the world and make life worth living for one another—CATHY CRANDALL

■ Think we've forgotten something, don't you? We haven't, though. Look for graduation, East Side Swing, Prom, spring sports, Politics Week, Flower Day, and other goodies in the all-new spring supplement, a separate magazine edition of the yearbook designed to give more coverage of the people and spring events at East High.

IN MEMORIAM

Leo Blankenship

Mike Grams

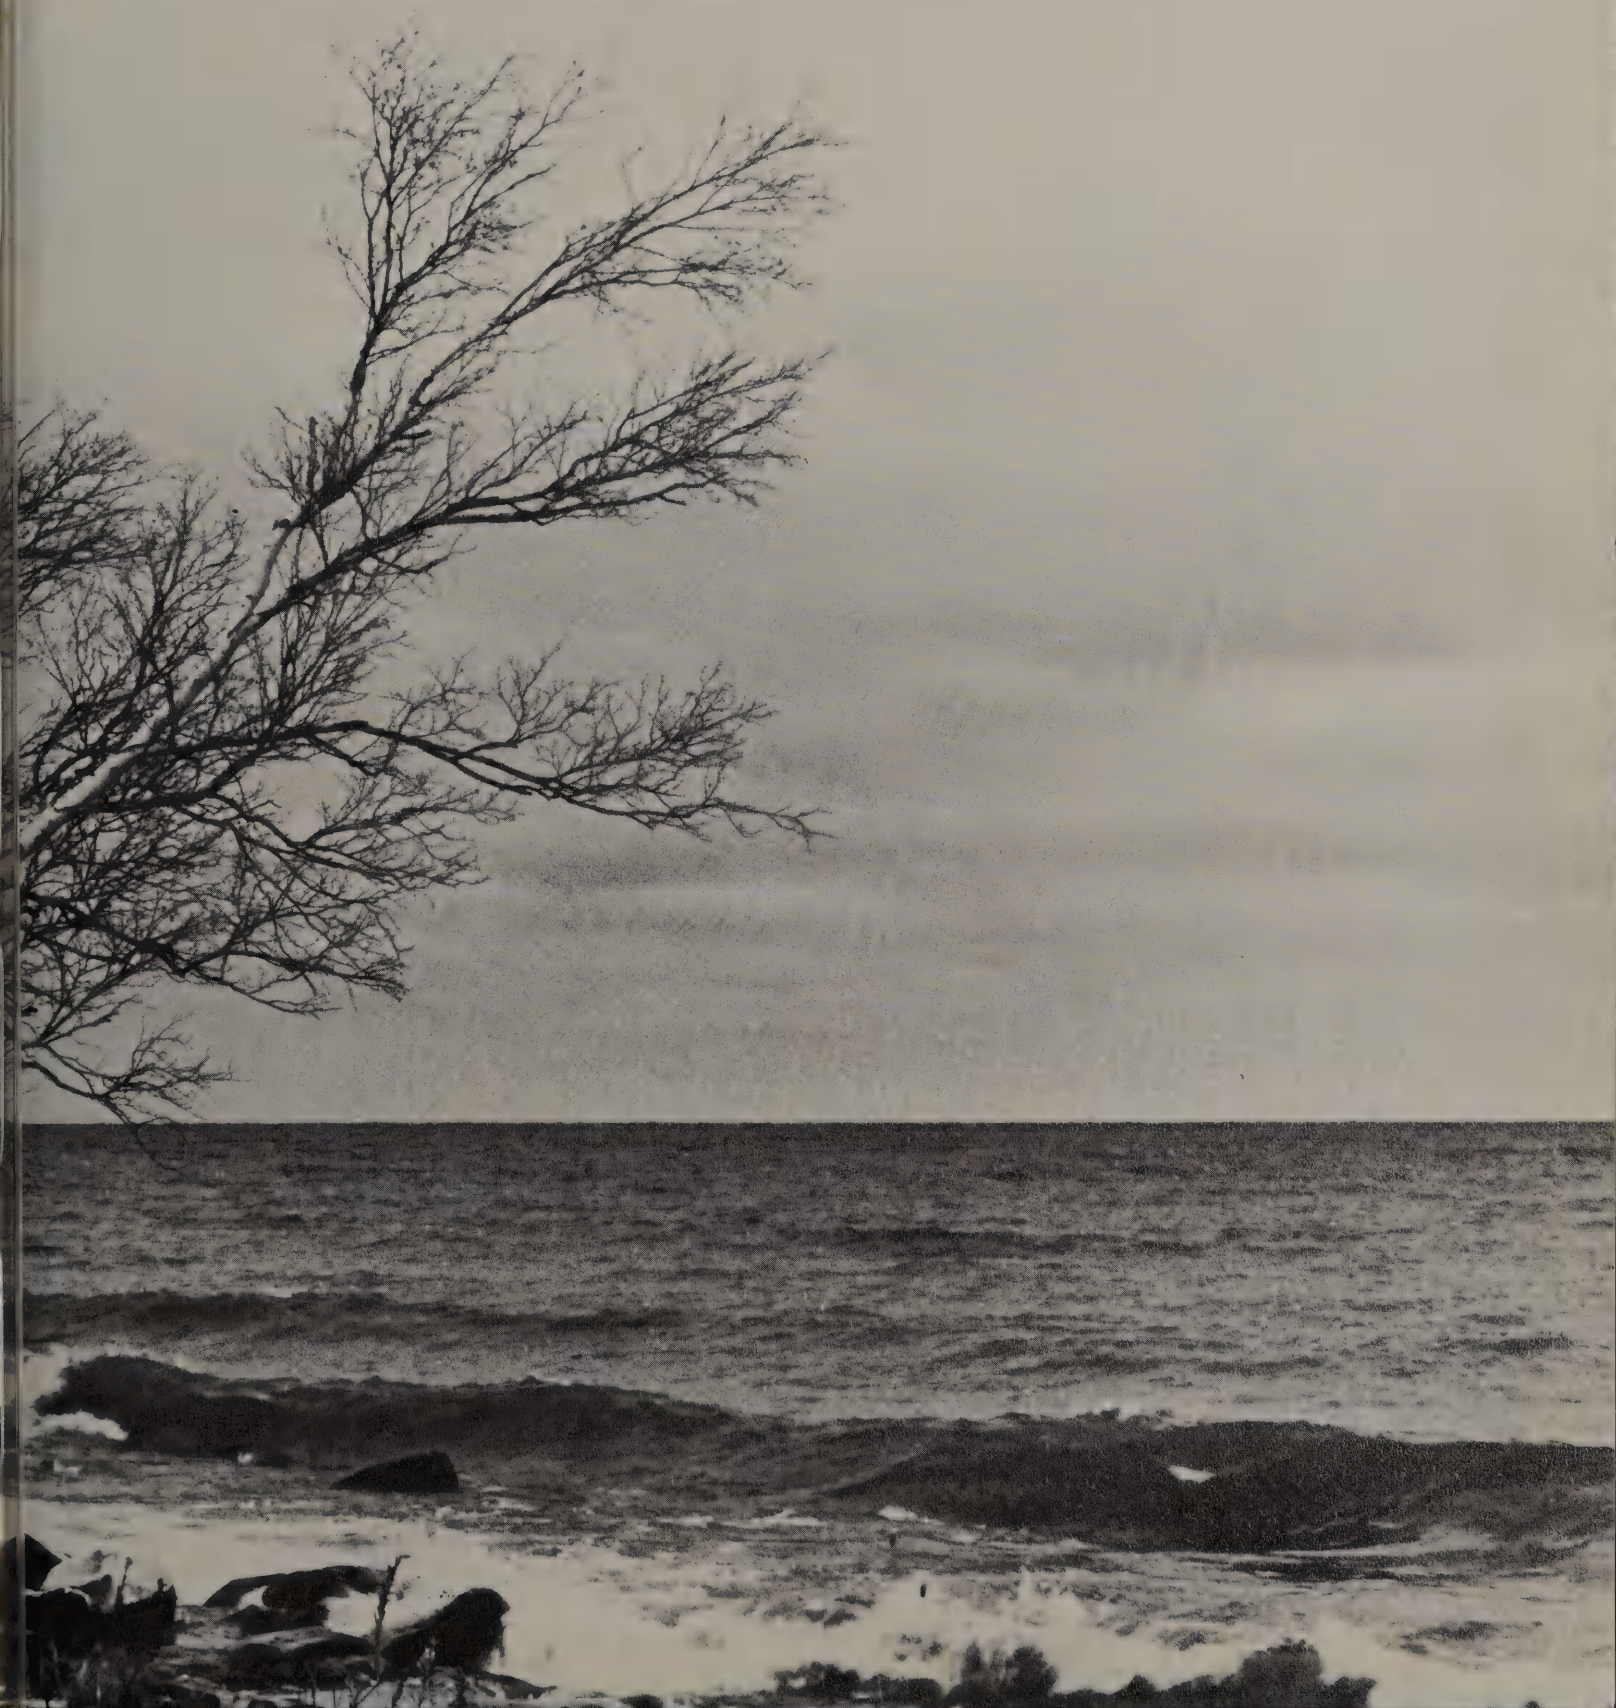

Kathie London

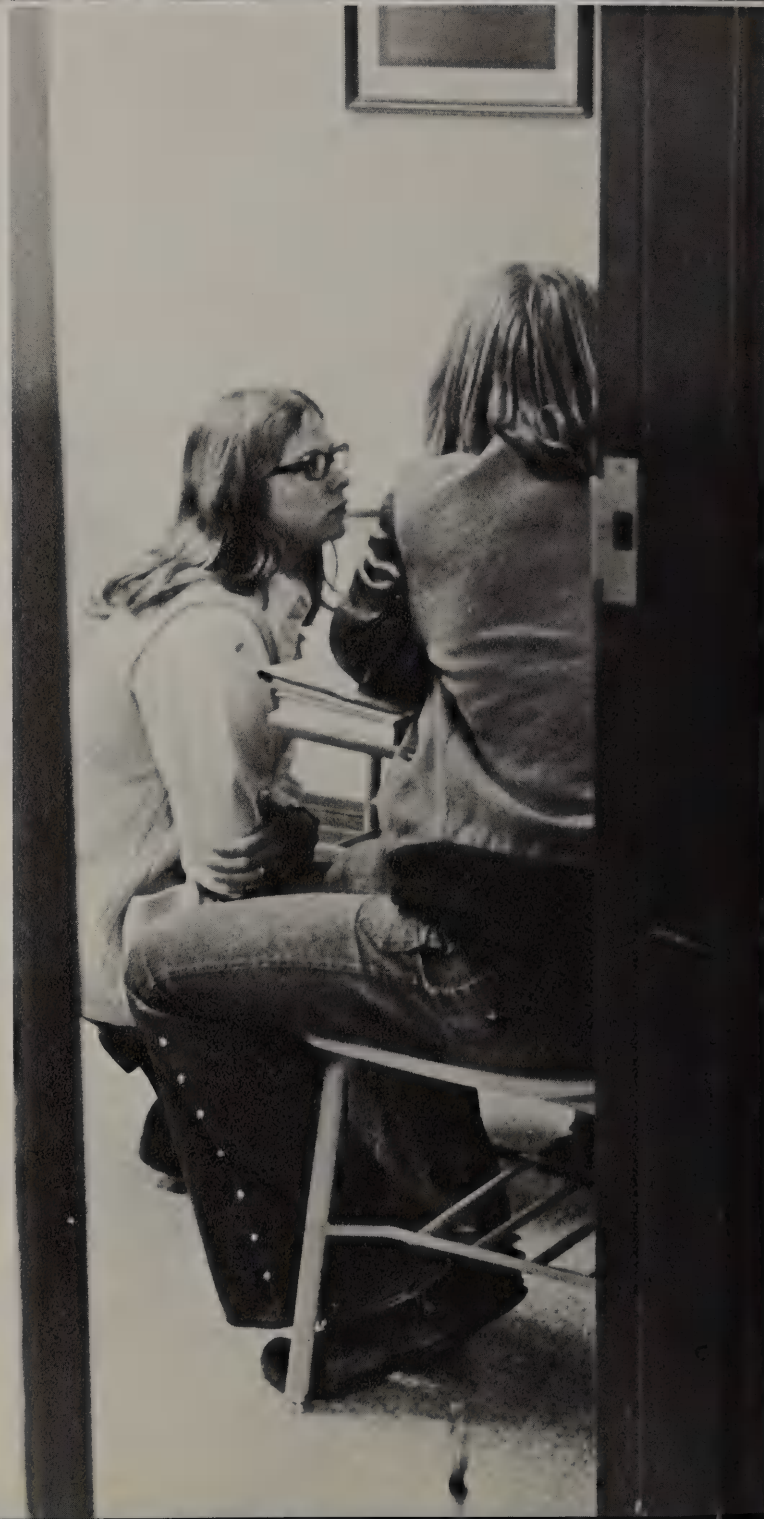

Dave Whereatt

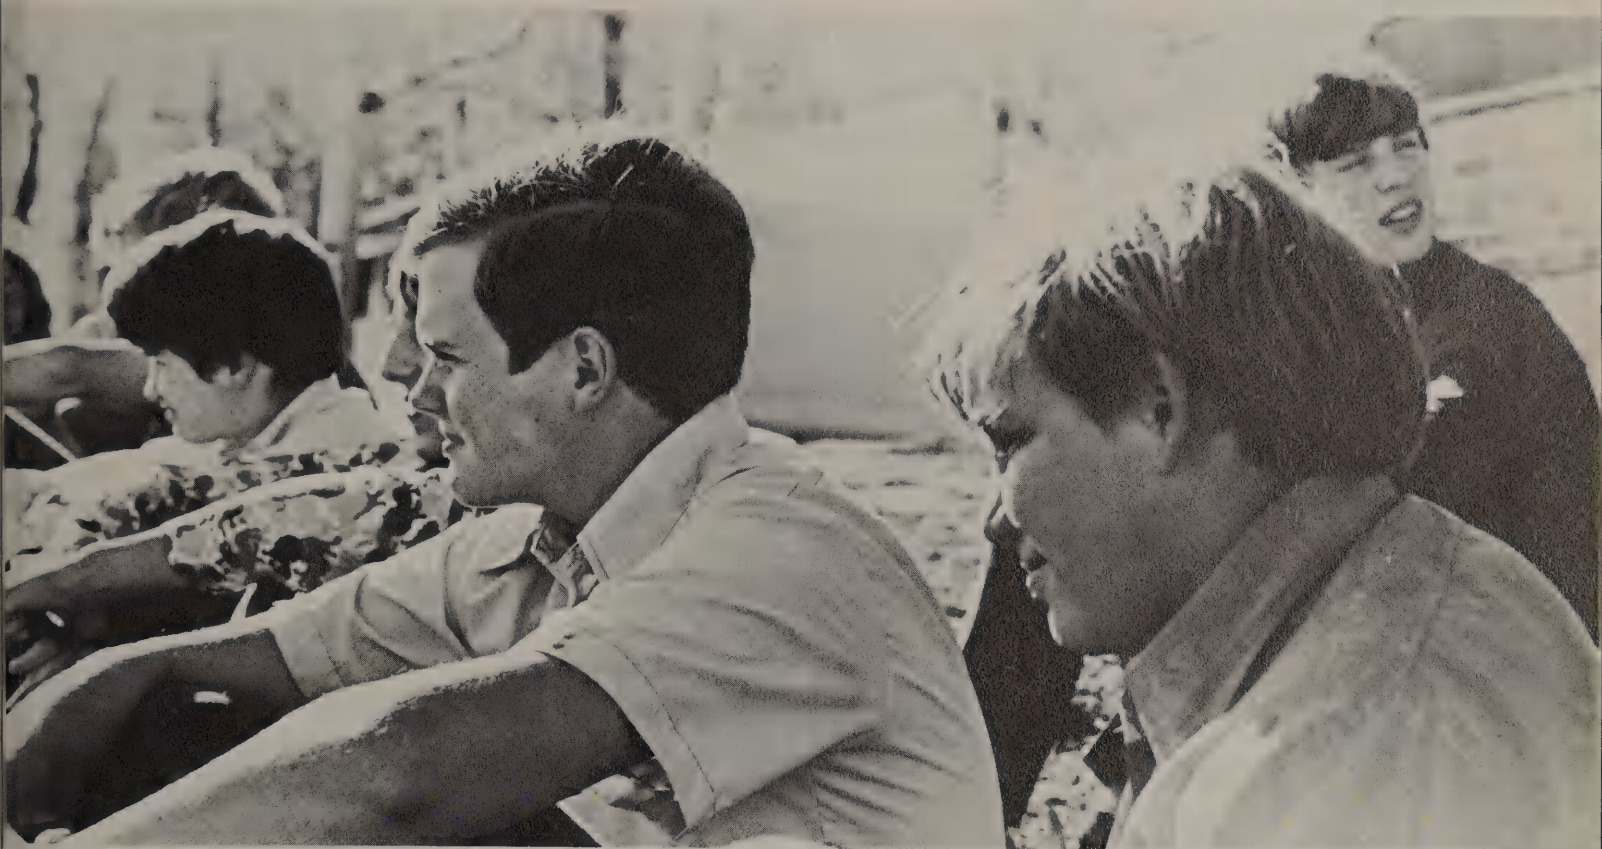

If in the spirit of friendship
I hold out my hand, take it.
For in that touch
a universe of love unfolds, and a relationship that may never have been is.

In living

one always searches for self-expression
attempting to bypass
the paths of others
yet unable to discover a new mode or concept overlooking the original that lies within all of us.

Search for yourself within yourself and not in the paths of others.

For everyone is a pattern unto himself and follows a line that lies not as straight or as crooked as the next one but follows its own inclination its own tangent
its own hopes and dreams and feeds on the experiences known only to one's self.

Dear Paul,

It has been a great honor to sit across from
you. (snicker, snicker). Really, I've sure had fun. and one thing I've noticed about you, no matter how fast you told you always say exactly what you mean and you never miss anything anyone else says. And you've never said anything mean. I really do respect & like you.
You're lots of fun to talk to and I hope that you have lots of happiness in the future.

Love

Sandy.

P.S. Canada is beautiful!

P.T.

Paul I think our biggest break of the year was when O'B quit and Willie took over as the Adv. Physics instructor (?) With the great wealth of information we have gained we should be able to take over the world. Remember: take it easy, if its easy the good claps. Keep up the good carrying. Don't forget this year. Don't live in "Adv. Physics" a real laugh. Best Wishes Jim Spencer

Part - Line,

I think we've gone through a lot together: Gayscouts, Burrows, AP English. It's impossible to sum up a friendship in short words, but your constant good humor so characterizes you that this is what I shall most remember you by. I hope you find success and happiness in the future and may your good spirits outlive your youth.

Sincere Good Luck ---
David Swanson

Paul,
 the best manager I've ever had,
 and the only one. Take it easy this summer and good luck with the school. See in touch with me out in Cambridge.
 Always,
 Denny Sund

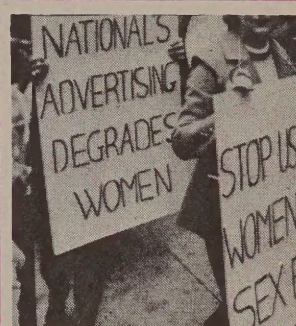

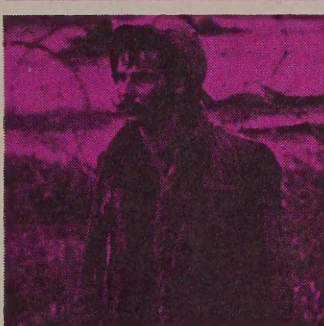

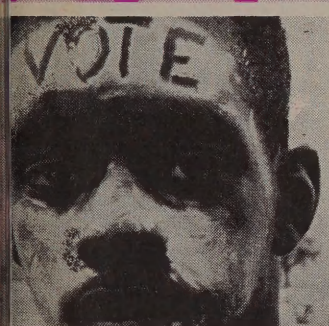

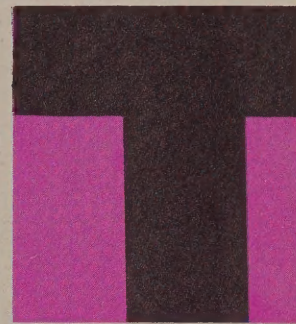

Paul,
 Three years of Barrows together has been quite an experience, but we've got new things to tackle - problems to solve. Good luck. God bless you.
 John.

WE WANT PEACE
 PLEASE

I wanted only to try to live in accord with the promptings which came from my true self. Why was that so very difficult?

-Hermann Hesse

"I-I hardly know, sir, just at present—
 at least I know who I was when I got up this morning, but I think I must have changed
 several times since then."
 Alice in Wonderland

PAUL,
 I thought I'd sign here since it's right across the page from Dr. Swanson's note. Anyway, we've had fun in Mr. B's class these past years, and although it was lots of work, we made it through. I am extremely happy that I got to know you during my life at East. Now we've even shared a few drinking experiences, and there will most likely be more. I hope that happiness and success will always greet you. Best of luck to a person I truly admire. Have a nice summer and I hope to see you.
 Always your friend,
 Jim Reid

Paul,
 This was the summer of my life. Remember the library? Good fun at East.
 I really had a lot of fun at that time. Another good thing was that I was in the Deutsch class. Yeah, it was a lot of fun. But now I'm moving on to bigger and better things.
 Auf Wiedersehen
 Jeff
